BY THE SHORTHAIRS

Sex is more natural than politics. That's probably why politicians work hard to make sex seem wrong. Certainly, there has always been censorship, which is how society is controlled. The first step in that control is the sexual being.

The established "dos and don'ts" list for personal behavior is part of government and church control. That's why it isn't odd to see the marriage of politicians—despite a reputation for unethical, corrupt behavior—and fundamentalists, whose own unsaintly practices are exposed almost daily.

This alliance usually rears up as legislation that even its sponsors admit probably violates constitutional freedoms, but they feed on the false fears of sexuality and crow that "the people want something done!" Fortunately, the Constitution's framers sought to close up loopholes through the checks-and-balances system of three equal branches of government. When, rather than take action against real problems, the legislature tries to mandate morality, the executive branch's attempts to carry out such laws will be met with the judicial branch's assessment of its constitutionality.

The hypocritical attempt to control the flow of ideas by reining in sexual conduct is evident in the landmark U.S. Supreme Court cases of Ulysses, Fanny Hill and Lady Chatterley's Lover, all of which were declared valid literary works, and, therefore, not obscene.

The Flynt vs. Falwell decision—establishing that since humor is a form of expression, it cannot be abridged even if it hurts someone's feelings—reaffirms those basic rights. As such, the Falwell case is the one that the next generation will base its beliefs on.

HUSTLER's 15-year tradition of puncturing the windbags of politics and fundamentalism, and folding paper tigers into enlightened expression has been at the heart of the heat I have felt. The more that a so-called pornographer points out the failures of the do-nothing politicians and self-serving preachers, the more they point the finger of blame for society's ills at a pornographer. The Supreme Court has said that even pornographers have a right to make those points.

I still firmly believe in the First Amendment, and in fighting for full protection of the freedoms it guarantees. We don't yet have a clear definition of obscenity or pornography, which aren't the same thing. But the Falwell case reassures me that as long as we have the right to poke holes in political paranoiacs, the battle for control of our sex lives between government and private citizens can be continued and won.

CLEAN AS A WHISTLE
I can't thank you enough for putting Julianne ("Up and Coming") in your May '89 issue. I absolutely adore her clean-shaven cunt and her healthy, tanned body. I love eating pussy, especially shaved ones. I'll be looking at this issue for a long time. —H.X.S.
Chicago, Illinois

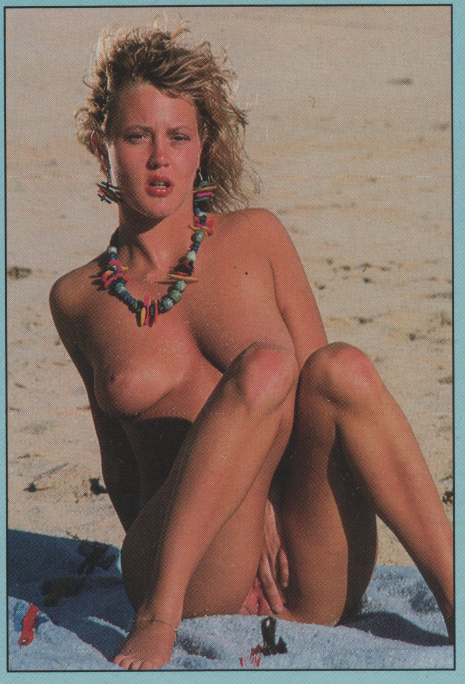

SEX ON DECKS
I shouldn't have been surprised; I should have seen it coming. Yet, I cannot fully describe my amazement: skateboards in HUSTLER (April '89 "Meals on Wheels"). Actually, I suppose it's only fair, for on occasion I've used HUSTLER pages to decorate the handmade decks (boards) that I'm known for. I could complain about the department store skateboards used in the layout, but only a serious skater would care anyway. The hand plant that the model is flappin' on the opening shot is fully sick (that means way cool). And I still haven't got my eyeballs back in my head. Now, thanks to HUSTLER, nude skating will be ultra-trendy (I hope). —Sex Dex

UDDERLY FANTASTIC
I just about fell backwards when I laid my eyes upon the incredible Toppsy Curvey: Fuckin' Huge (April '89). She looks like a cross between Jayne Mansfield and Dolly Parton gone wild! Is she for real or is Toppsy from another planet? I never knew it was possible that women came that beautiful and stacked. A star is born. Bravo! Is there a video or fan club address? —E.L.
Larkspur, California

Toppsy hasn't done a video yet, but she wows audiences on the national burlesque circuit. Check with adult theatres in your area to see if she's coming soon.

Wow! I just finished reading the April issue, and I have to say that Toppsy Curvey has to be the most beautiful big-busted woman I have ever seen. I have never written to any other publication before, but I felt it was a necessity to tell you that Toppsy is No. 1 on my list of the ten best things in life. I am a breast-man from the word go, but I like them to be attached to a beautiful woman, and Toppsy certainly is that. And sexy too! Could you show us more of her?—G.G.

LEZ LAYOUT LOVER
I've been buying HUSTLER since I was 18 years old. In your December '88 issue I took particular delight in the "Darla and Charlene: Dude Ranchers" layout. There should be more female-on-female photography in HUSTLER. Maybe you could think about publishing another magazine with only girl/girl layouts. Even if you don't, I will always buy HUSTLER. —E.R.

GOON SQUAD KUDOS
I have just read the March '89 HUSTLER article that exposed the lawless and fraudulent practices of the IRS ("IRS Goon Squards"). I am a physician who has been in the freedom movement for more than 12 years. I know firsthand how the IRS lies and twists the existing statutes aided by the U.S. Justice Department and federal judges. I commend and applaud your courageous stand to inform the People of the imminent threat to their liberties. God bless you. —J.B.K.
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Congratulations on your recent article about the abuses of the IRS. It's good to know that somebody has the guts to tell it like it is. I happen to be one of the "St. Paul Six" mentioned in the "IRS Goon Squad" article. I am presently incarcerated at the Duluth Federal Prison camp. Of the St. Paul Six, three are imprisoned while three are out pending appeal. It's crazy! The trial itself was an absolute display of judicial tyranny. You would do well to write an article on corruption of the courts as well. In any case, thanks for helping to expose the IRS for what they are. —N.E.S.
Duluth, Minnesota

Thank you for your article in the March '89 HUSTLER exposing the IRS for what they've done to thousands of citizens in our free land. It took guts to run an article of this type considering the reprisals that could result. Well done, I say.

I've been fighting on behalf of the tax movement for ten years and have lost two close friends (both family men and veterans) in the past five years as a result of being front-line tax fighters. I'm not too far from the garbage can myself since I sincerely believe that the Department of Energy pulled the security clearance I carried for eight years because I was fighting the IRS. My reason for writing HUSTLER is to thank you for your courage. We taxpayers are more intimidated than even your magazine implies.

COMPLAINT DEPARTMENT

Your article concerning mail-order porn ("Guide to Mail-Order Porn" April '89) was timely and much needed. However, you don't practice what you preach. To wit, your mail-order advertisements in HUSTLER almost consistently do not meet your recommended specifications. In fact, some ads in that same issue were textbook rip-offs according to the same article. Why the paradox?

—M.W.
Weatherford, Oklahoma

Notify our Advertising Department of your specific complaints and you'll see action.

SATISFIED CUSTOMER

I have been an admirer of HUSTLER for the past three years. It has only been since May of last year that I subscribed, before that I would pick up the latest issue at my local store. I think HUSTLER gives you what you pay for and more. The articles are great and informative. The photo layouts are out of this world. Where HUSTLER finds all these hot girls I don't know. I only hope that I will see more of them in the future. You are the best adult magazine. Keep up the good work, and I will continue to read every issue from cover to cover.

—D.K.

TASTLESS 'TOONS

I just want to tell you that you are real fuckheads for portraying and downplaying Christ in your cartoons. I guess you have nothing else to fill your pages, which are very tastless and lacking in class. I just happened to go through one of your magazines I found while cleaning out a unit at the storage facility I run. Most of the people who rent from our facility are of pretty low caliber. That's all I have to say to jerk editors who put this magazine together.

—R.M.L. III
Orange, California

OFFENSIVE HUMOR

I've been buying HUSTLER for ten years and have usually been satisfied. Lately, though, your magazine is nothing but shit! I am currently in the armed forces, overseas in Sicily keeping the peace so assholes like you can have the First Amendment rights to continue printing fucking garbage. I was extremely upset with your February '89 "Farewell to Reagan" parody with the picture of Jim Brady and a Vegetable Dip sign around his neck. What kind of humor is this shit? This man was shot in the head and has been through a great ordeal. I hope I never have to take a bullet defending my country for fuckheads like you. —D.C.
FPO New York, New York

ANOTHER VIEW

When I first started reading HUSTLER I didn't think much of it. But the more issues I read, the more I noticed your magazine does view the world as it really is—not to mention the beautiful women who are featured every month. Anthony R. Lovett's article, "Requiem for a Heavy-Wadd," was one of the best pieces of nonfiction to come along in a while. The cartoons, the parodies, Bits & Pieces, all put your magazine far ahead of other men's magazines. I'll be waiting for the next issue. Keep up the good work.

—E.U.
Lordsburg, New Mexico

LAST REQUEST

The July '88 HUSTLER centerfold of "Juicy Jay: Palming Off" is my favorite piece of pussy. Though I'm not a subscriber, you can bet your ass I'll order soon. I'm here in Nevada's maximum security prison, and I love to jerk my throbbing pole as I gaze at the blond goddesses in your magazine. I usually have the sad old blues here on Death Row, but I can say this much: Before they execute me by lethal injection, my final request will be to jerk my meat one last time on these HUSTLER beauties. Then I'll be buried in the dirt with a stack of HUSTLERs in my box.That will be really heavenly.

BITS and PIECES

ASSHOLES OF THE MONTH

Rather than single out just one turd dispenser for this special issue, HUSTLER looked over its long list of previous Assholes of the Month and found 20 high-profile sphincters that have managed to stay in the public browneye. In (mostly) alphabetical order they are:

LARRY FLYNT—You'd think Larry would have sold out and retired to some Caribbean island by now, but no. He's still going at it, still fighting repression, corruption, social evils and smugness. What an Asshole.

JERRY FALWELL—This smug A-hole is to religion what Ed Meese was to law enforcement. Bigoted Baptist bully Falwell's recent cuddling-up to Oliver North indicates that when it comes to knowing right from wrong, the Rev. doesn't.

NEWT GINGRICH—The architect of Reagan's far-right of reason 1984 platform is now House Minority Whip. Ultraconservative Republicans are such disciplinarians—looks like slimy Newt has found his true calling.

AL GOLDSTEIN—Even dating radio psychologist Dr. Toni Grant wasn't enough to get the Screw publisher/malvivant/two-time Asshole off our list.

S.I. HAYAKAWA—Once an inconsequential senator, S.I.'s latest endeavor is as a shill for the English Only amendment that promotes repression instead of providing what're really needed—more English-language classes. Uck-fay ou-yay, ass-ay ole-hay!

SEN. JESSE HELMS—He claims to be "pro-life," but this smarmy butthole's support of right-wing Salvadoran butchers and efforts to block federal funding of medication for AIDS victims prove he's really pro-death.

JESSE JACKSON—Ask not what Jesse wants, but what we want of Jesse: Drop the attitude, run for some political office you could conceivably win and stop waiting to be invited to be Vice-President.

MOAMMAR KADDAFI—Terrorist/hate-monger/drag queen Kaddafi has decided that his moth-eaten nation should go into the chemical weapons business. And he wonders why he's never won "Miss Congeniality."

AYATOLLAH RUHOLLAH KHOMEINI—Salman Rushdie may indeed be going to hell, but there's no need to send him Federal Express. Lighten up!

ED KOCH—It's hard to believe that this racist buffoon is mayor of the world's fourth-largest city. If his idea of enlightened leadership is to yell, "Scab," at filmgoers lined up for a $7 movie, it's no wonder New York is on the skids.

TOM LANDRY—Ex-self-styled antiporn expert witness, ex-Dallas Cowboys coach Landry should have seen the handwriting on the wall and resigned before he got fired. His judgment hasn't gotten any better since he was named Asshole of the Month in December 1980.

LYNDON LAROUCHE—This drizzling dung-dumper whose extremist views—Queen Elizabeth a drug pusher?—are even farther right than Jesse Helms's wants to be a major political force in this country. The Asshole will have to wait 15 years while he serves a sentence for mail fraud, however.

PETER MACDONALD—Press censorship, questionable ethics, a suspicious real estate deal, charges of soliciting bribes and kickbacks all combine to make this Navajo Tribe Chairman one Heap Big Bungloaf.

FERDINAND MARCOS—"Crooked" is the kindest thing that can be said about this ex-"President" of the Philippines who siphoned off billions from his now-destitute country. Something tells us when this pus-puffed pooter dies, somebody's going to contest the will.

EDWIN MEESE III—While disguised as Attorney General of the United States, this subversive sleazebag was the focus of countless investigations and ethics probes. Slippery Ed managed to avoid indictments, stall the Iran/Contra investigation and divert attention with his much-publicized commission on pornography—and get away scot-free. Some Assholes have all the luck.

MARVIN MITCHELSON—This swollen colon has developed a reputation as a lady killer since we dubbed him Asshole of the Month three years ago. Though he was acquitted of rape charges, he still has some fast talking to do before the California State Bar explaining his alleged misuse of clients' funds. This redolent rectum gives Assholes a bad name.

OLIVER NORTH—As much as this flag-wrapped turd-flume would have you believe otherwise, Assholes are born, not made.

RONALD REAGAN—You may think the pawn is gone, but he's not. And he'll be around—at least in spirit—for a long, long time. The only mitigating circumstance of Reagan's eight-year nap is that he didn't win a Nobel Peace Prize. . . although it is a miracle he didn't blow us all up.

JIMMY SWAGGART—What is there to say about a multimillionaire televangelist who was too cheap to spend money on a hooker more attractive than Debra Murphree?

REV. DONALD WILDMON—Head of the pro-censorship American Family Association, Wildmon was one of the most visible Assholes in the recent fundamentalist attack on the film The Last Temptation of Christ. The reeking Rev.'s rabid anti-Semitism won him numerous appearances on the Six O'Clock News—and an estimated $1,000,000+ in donations from his flocks of bigots. This Asshole has more than used up his 15 minutes of fame.

HUSTLER AROUND THE WORLD

As part of a sporadic series, HUSTLER brings you an update on erotic events from the four corners of the earth. Who needs National Geographic?

CHANGING OF THE GUARD

No wonder increasingly large crowds are hanging out at Great Britain's Fuckingham Palace. Thanks to government austerity, the well-endowed Limey Cooze Corps cannot afford indoor dressing rooms, so they must put on a free show for the tourists twice daily.

BIMBO DANCING

On the tiny island of Titti-Titti, the residents perform a ritual dance that has remained virtually unchanged over the centuries. Of course, with the introduction of silicone breast enhancements to the native population, some of the girls now require a slight handicap.

FROM UNCLE SAM'S ORIGINAL RECIPE

For the vet on the go, there's just one way to start the day—with a brimming glass of Agent Orange. Sure, Kool-Aid is fine for massacres, but it's Agent Orange that brings a genuine taste of Nam back into your life. Not only is the powdered drink delicious, but it also contains essential Vitamin C for you and a chemical defoliant for use on that pesky crabgrass outside. Why, breakfast without Agent Orange is like a day without flashbacks.

GRANDFATHER COCK

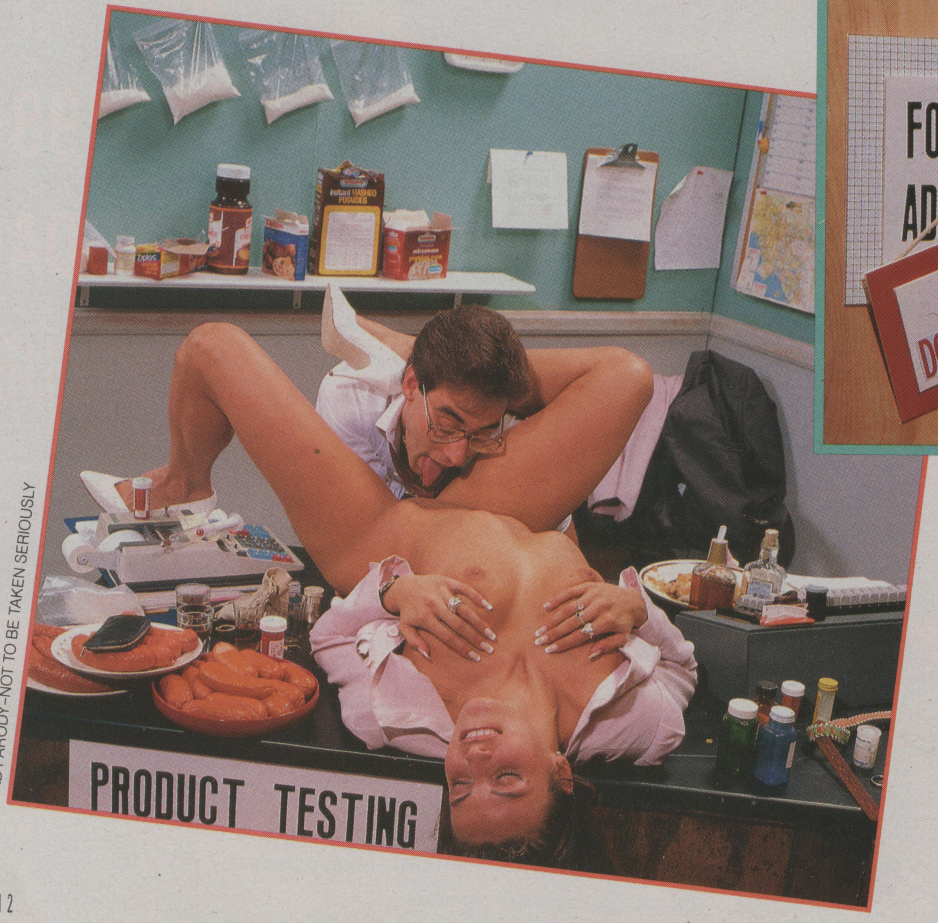

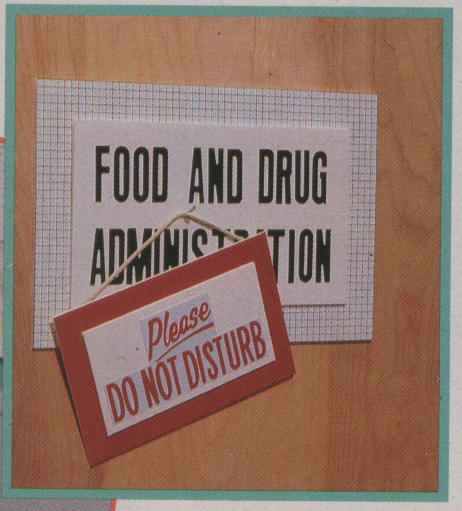

He may not be able to get it up anymore, but gramps can still swing like a pendulum do. So why not make him feel useful around the house? Besides, he's as reliable as any alarm clock, since the old man has to piss every 15 minutes on the dot.

Porn From the Past

BEHIND THE SCENES AT THE FDA

It's a thankless job being an inspector for the Food and Drug Administration, but somebody has to do it. This dedicated product tester has already gone through a gram of coke, a few bottles of booze, fistfuls of prescription pills and countless potentially carcinogenic pastries—now he actually has to check out a new brand of douche for possible hazardous side effects. Makes it hard to imagine what the guy does to relax.

*AD PARODY–NOT TO BE TAKEN SERIOUSLY

GREAT MOMENTS IN JUSTICE

Parody: Not to be taken seriously. Celebrity head stripped in by artist.

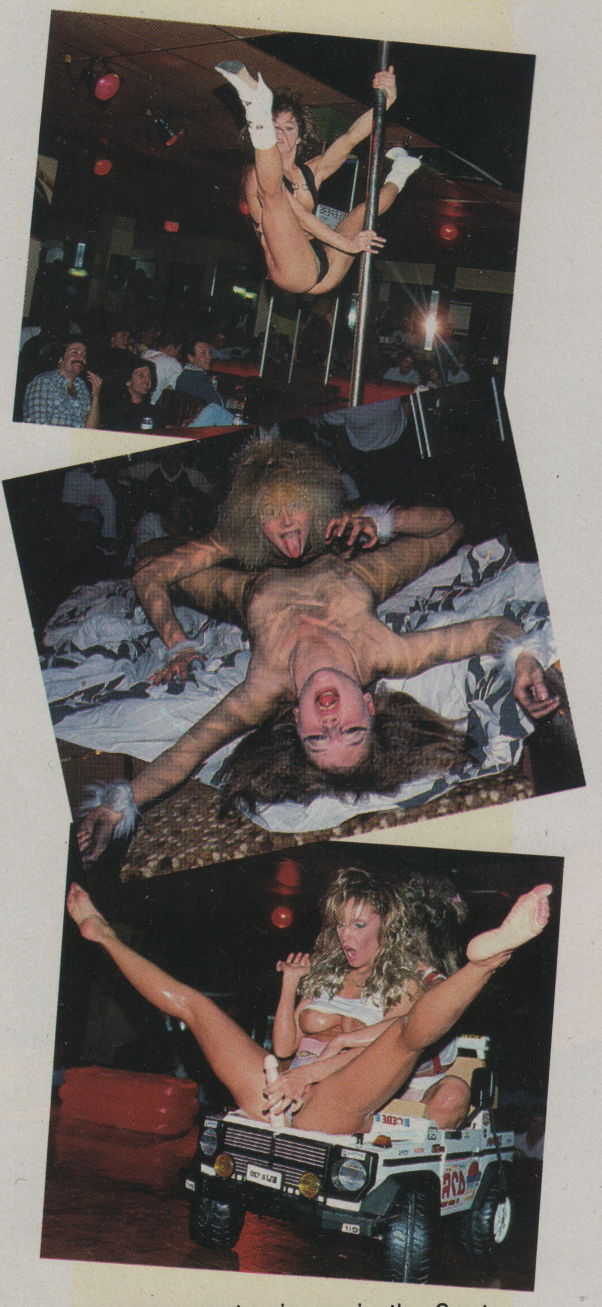

Using a smuggled camera, a HUSTLER reporter was able to obtain this exclusive photo of the last moments of multiple murderer Ted Bundy. In light of Bundy's final confessions, the criminal justice system chose to exercise a rare taste for irony and let the punishment fit the crime.

BRAIN WASHING

There's nothing quite like the opportunity every parent gets to mold a young mind, but you have to start with a head that's clean and free from impure thoughts. Mothers who care use gentle soap, the kind that won't sting a baby's eyes. Don't be afraid to scrub vigorously—remember, the brains aren't really theirs until they're old enough to use them.

MADE IN CANADA

Recent sojourns in the Great White North by HUSTLER's intrepid girl scouts culminated in the HUSTLER Talent Search and Canadian Duo Championships. Erotic entrepreneurs Sal and Sam Bitoni staged the competition at their club, Peepers, at the South Central Inn in Calgary, Alberta. Believe us, the ladies put on quite a show. As you stuff your tongue back into your mouth, bear in mind that the gals pictured here were all just runners-up. To see the winners, you'll have to wait for the special photo-feature in our August issue.

Sex News Bits

FINAL

Blubber: A Natural Contraceptive

There's more to tubby tarts than meets the eye, say the authors of a new book called, Weight, Sex and Marriage: A Delicate Balance. Therapists Barbara Jacobson and husband Richard Stuart claim that many husbands like their wives fat because they're easier to neglect. According to the book: "Often a husband wants to continue ignoring his wife. That can be more difficult when she looks attractive." Likewise, fat babes use their bulk as a shield against sexual propositions from their spouses. Word is, it works.

Those Wacky Mormons!

Things just got a little looser in sexually repressive Utah recently as the state supreme court repealed Provo's sex solicitation ordinance. Don't think that means hookers now have free reign in the Mormon State, however. The top judges simply decided that married couples ought to be able to ask each other to bed. That's how strict the Provo ordinance was: The law made it possible to arrest anybody who made carnal suggestions to their spouse while out in public. Makes you wonder how they ever managed polygamy.

Carnal Christians Seek Cure

Jimmy Swaggart and Jim Bakker aren't alone. In fact, so many born-again Christians describe themselves as sex addicts that the New Hope Treatment Center in Anaheim, California, now offers a special treatment program for God's little sex friends. New Hope Chairman Stephan Arterburn says that the clinic treats the Jesus-loving sexaholics by involving them in group discussions, prayer meetings and one-on-one therapy. But patients better pray they can afford it: The center charges $600 a day, with most treatments lasting two to eight weeks.

According to Arterburn, it's a paltry sum considering how difficult it is scraping sex off the brains of the born-agains. "For some of these people, the addiction is so intense they are no longer able to go to church because they spend their time there looking up skirts and down blouses," explains Arterburn.

Arterburn would get no argument from United Church of Christ minister and clinical psychologist Reverend Mark Laazer, who counsels at the Golden Valley Health Center in Minnesota. Laazer has seen his share of clergymen addicted to sex and says many of them were aware of their problems before they joined the ministry, but became ordained anyway, believing that their ordination would keep them from acting out their impulses. Unfortunately, Rev. Laazer says, their lust is aggravated by the high expectations and increased temptations that stem from their exalted positions. "They're placed on pedestals and expected to be perfect," says Laazer. "There are a lot of people who are willing to do just about anything to please a minister."

Lusty Library Unpopular in Prison

After an Iowa judge ruled that prison inmates were entitled to the same magazines as free Iowans, the Iowa Men's Reformatory in Anamosa, Iowa, relented and set up a new pornography reading room in the prison library. Despite the common conception that incarcerated individuals can't wait to get their hands on hard-core mags, prison officials report that only six inmates bothered to drop into the reading room during the first week it opened. "Most inmates don't like pornography," claims Warden John Thalacker, head of the reformatory. "They think it's junk, just like the rest of us." But convict Art Hartsock begs to differ with his keeper. "I do like pornography," says the ex-burglar. Hartsock adds that the problem has more to do with atmosphere than taste. "They don't let you sit and enjoy it. With that cluster of guards coming in and out of the reading room, it's like a freeway."

Sex Facts to Know and Tell

Did you know that...

- Each passenger arriving at the airport in Stockholm, Sweden, gets a complimentary condom?
- Male and female sex hormones peak in the morning, so the prime time for fucking is when you wake up?
- German researchers say that an 89-year-old man is just as capable of fathering children as a young man?
- At the Sperm Bank of Northern California in Oakland, 40% of women who get artificially inseminated say that they are actually lesbians?
- France is commemorating the 200th anniversary of its revolution by distributing condoms with pictures of guillotines emblazoned on them?

EROTIC ENTERTAINMENT

With more than a thousand hard-core movies being released each year for the home audience, viewers, increasingly confronted by seductive advertising and slick packaging, are often at a loss when it comes to selecting an X-rated tape worth watching. HUSTLER is committed to serious, no-bullshit criticism designed to accurately inform readers of XXX-cinema offerings, and to spur the adult-entertainment industry to better productions. Despite their drastic decline, there will always be adult theaters, and we'd never leave a film buff in the lurch: If a review says a production was shot on film, it's probably playing on a big screen somewhere—all you have to do is find it.

Barbii flying solo in Barbii Unleashed.

BARBII UNLEASHED

Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Bruce Seven; starring Barbii, Brandi Wine, Bionca, Nina DePonca, Steve Austin, Randy West, Ray Victory, Peter North and Tom Byron. Videocassette by 4-Play Video.

Delicious dish Barbii is the most toothsome morsel on the contemporary slime menu, and in Barbii Unleashed she's all but eaten up. The preferred mode of delectation is snacking squack from the rear, with gonadal gourmands grinding gobbling mouth and quivering nose into the leavened crevice of Barbii's fresh, upraised patty cakes. A girl with appetites of her own, dream-buns Barbii commences Unleashed by having her ethereally erotic only fuels the hungry-for-fuck slut's starving libido. She takes her fill of meal-and-a-half Peter North with a chaser of Brandi Wine; she becomes finger food for greedy slatterns Bionca and Nina DePonca; she's a hot-box lunch for hearty eater Randy West; she's the main course buffet with Tom Byron and a dumb waiter-type. Side dishes include Bionca indulging a penchant for Ray Victory's licorice and Tom Byron satiated by Nina DePonca's caramel cooze. This diet is guaranteed to be fattening to the connoisseur's crank.

X RATED TAPES

Edited by Mike Ferris.

SEX SCENE

PLAY IT LEWD

Ava Cadell may not be a household name, but if you watch much television or go to the movies, odds are you've seen her in something. Ava has appeared in movies ranging from Smokey and the Bandit 3 to Not of This Earth (the first "legitimate" Traci Lords vehicle, remember?) and in TV series such as Hotel, Mike Hammer, Divorce Court and Love Boat. Now, however, the multitalented actress is broadening her range with the release of Ava's Hot Lips, a half-hour tape of steamy sex talk and the sweet sounds of fucking, featuring Ava and other performers. This much aural action would set you back a fortune in phone-sex bills, but the tapes go for only ten bucks apiece (see ad on page 111). Although she says her greatest fantasy is "having a simultaneous orgasm with an audience of millions," the woman behind the voice is not inclined to reveal any more of herself than you can see here. So for now we'll just have to use our imaginations and keep watching those reruns.

A wanton display of cartoon carnality from Pandora*.*

PANDORA: AN EROTIC TRILOGY

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Arthur King. Videocassette by Excalibur Films.

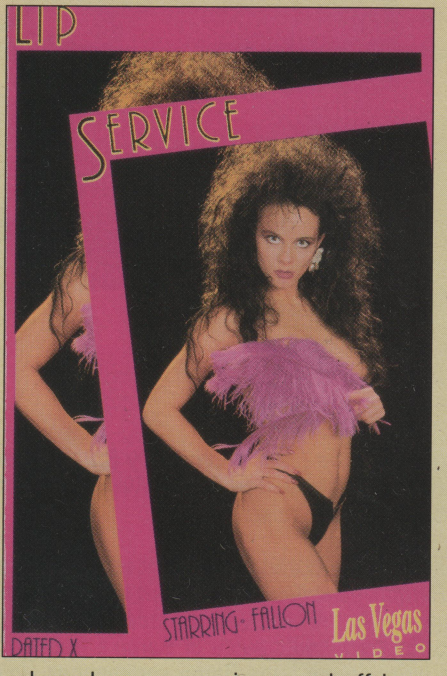

Cartoon characters who fuck on screen have certain advantages over their real-life counterparts: They are often better-looking, they work for less money, and their performances are at least two-dimensional. Nevertheless, Pandora, the latest installment in Excalibur Films' "Brothers Grime" animated sex series, cannot really be called a turn-on for anyone but those who grew up masturbating to Speed Racer cartoons (a perhaps not inconsiderable minority). The first segment of this "erotic trilogy" is by far the best, featuring a kewpie doll she-devil from hell who fucks the life force out of a helpless priest before twisting his head off, then turns into a muscle-bound behemoth with two pricks, in order to double-dong the chambermaid. However, overall there is relatively little "sex" in this "sex tape," and what there is often consists of some animated sequences repeated over and over. Hey, just like real porn!

—Otto DeFaye

LIP SERVICE

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Starring Fallon, Dana Lynn, Tamara Longley, Kimi Gee, Ginger Lynn, Gail Force, Jesse Eastern, Herschel Savage, Blake Palmer, R. Bolla and Don Fernando. Videocassette by Las Vegas Video.

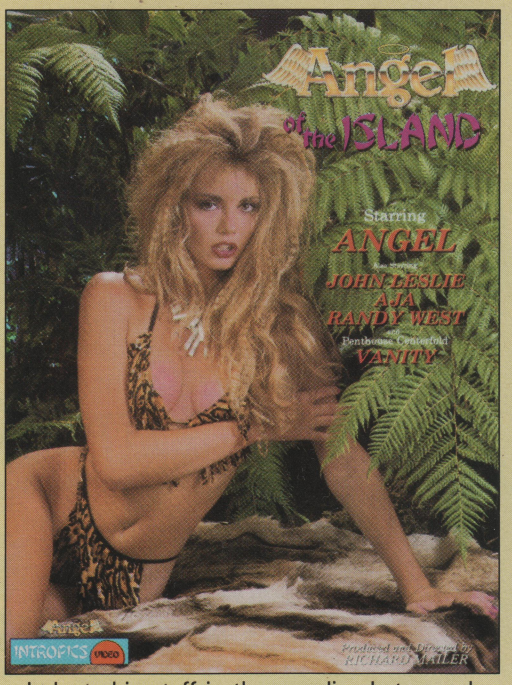

Some say a smile is a girl's greatest asset, providing those winsomely upturned lips are poised to swoop upon a distended prick. Others contend a woman's best smile is between her thighs, particularly when a persistent tongue parts those lower labia and swabs the sugary walls inside. Both schools of oral-genital obsession will be less than fully gratified by Lip Service, a motley of scum footage old and new that contains no more face to fuck-hole and schtup-pole than an ordinary screw tape. Incandescent cocksucker Tamara Longley's servicing of Herschel Savage's porker sausage is hampered by hair in her face and too many quick camera cuts; the malapert mugs of Dana Lynn, Fallon and lesser strumpets survive the entire tape without a choad load dumped upon their crumpet countenances. In contrast, a salvaged orgy scene is capped off by cum-crazed Ginger Lynn's torrid tongue lolling out to catch flying gobs of knob lob as her little-girl-lust eyes stare with direct impudence into the camera. Next to Ginger, the rest is just Lip Service.

—Hakim Withers

ANGEL OF THE ISLAND

Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Richard Mailer; starring Angel, John Leslie, Aja, Vanity, Lynn LeMay, Mike Horner, Bruce Stallion, Larry Zenon and Ray Victory. Videocassette by Intropics Video.

If such a thing as life after death does exist, with a heaven included in it, and if sex occurs in such a place, then all men who have been deserving on this imperfect Earth, with its warty, droopy, stinky fucks of desperation, will be screwing girls like Angel. Her first reactions (throwing profile poses right and left) as Mike Horner's tongue chases his finger up her snatch, indicate that Angel is no mere piece of this life. Miraculously, Horner holds back his wad through Angel's celestial cocksucking and plants his staff in the paradise between her thighs. She's a libidinal vision, lips mumbling orgasmic imprecations as she fingers her rosy bead. Next in worship of the angelic form, after Aja crams her ermine craw with Ray Victory's sable crowbar and breasty Lynn LeMay proves she's a filthy beast by lying flat on a bathroom floor and taking a shot of semen straight to her tattooed tit, comes John Leslie, beatifically beat off. The tape ends. None of us has died and gone to heaven; we are still jerking off in limbo.

—C. S.

HOT SPOT

VICTORIA PARIS

Former nude model and female mud wrestler Victoria Paris is still virtually a virgin by smut-cinema standards. So far, her libidinal impulses are on display only in Fantasy Home Video's The All-American Girl and Moonlight Entertainment's Live In, Love In. However, now that she's signed to a management contract with Peter Davy's Pure Class Productions, the folks who bring you the HUSTLER Hard series, you can expect to see a lot more of the perky blonde with the flawless body and powerhouse tits. She's featured in Voodoo Lust: The Possession, the soon-to-be-released second installment of HUSTLER Hard, and will star in the third. In addition, Davy is negotiating to win her a role in an R-rated horror film, a rare attempt at simultaneous crossover work. Whether Victoria's light will shine in mainstream Hollywood remains to be seen, but there's no doubt she has what it takes to be a superstar in the world of porn.

SINNERS, PART I

Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Cecil Howard; starring Laurie Smith, Paul Thomas, Sharon Kane, Kimberly Carson, Sharon Mitchell, Jerry Butler, Dick Howard, Marita Ekberg, Tasha Voux, Ashley Liberty, Melanie Scott, Ron Jeremy and Jack D'Arcy. Videocassette by Command Video.

If you don't recognize many of these performers, it's not because they're newcomers. Of producer/director Cecil Howard's few faults, his worst is shooting a movie, then sitting on it for three years. There's hardly a body in Sinners that's working in XXX nowadays. Its déjà vu quality aside, this three-parter—apparently Howard's answer to Henri Pachard's 1985 four-part Taboo American Sinners: Tasha Voux struts her stuff.

Style—is a richly layered raunch-romp through the twisted lives of the Holt dynasty, a snarling, evil, demented crew that's part TV soap opera, part Erskine Caldwell. Part I, subtitled The Setup, is a little slow getting off the ground due to necessary exposition, but it reaches high gear with an imaginatively photographed threeway (Laurie Smith, Kimberly Carson, Paul Thomas). After that the sex comes fast and furious: vintage Howard. Five more full fuck scenes and some plot-linked sex snippets round out Sinners. Also vintage Howard are the superb direction, camera work and editing. Acting performances are likewise first rate, though the trade-off is an unfortunate overall lack of beauty. See it, though. It's a knockout. And Part II is coming soon.

—John Cooper

VIDEO of the MONTH

Agile Aja has her hands full in Deep Throat III.

DEEP THROAT III

Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Jerome Bronson; starring Aja, Tracey Adams, Amanda Tyler, Megan Leigh, Renee Morgan, Peter North, Robert Bullock, Mike Horner, Scott Irish, Billy Dee and John Dough. Videocassette by Arrow Video.

Robert Bullock and Megan Leigh just warming up.

The premise of Deep Throat III isn't any easier to swallow than Peter North's bloated prick, but before it's over, Aja—teary-eyed pupils rolling back into her skull, jaws distended like those of a feeding snake, gag reflexes precariously suspended—laryngeally accepts North's entire length of turgid lingam, her lips plummeting to the roots of the pubic hair at his massive stalk's base. Without blowing chunks, Aja also deeply blows Scott Irish, thrusting fingers down her throat as he drives her hole and drains dick dribbles all down her butt and slot, and sucks up the schlongs of Billy Dee and John Dough, who spew forth on her blissful face and dream-body torso. Amanda Tyler helps out by riding 69 with primed pump North; Renee Morgan does her bit of thorax massage with the rod of Mike Horner; Megan Leigh gulps hard and swoops low onto Robert Bullock's tonsil tickler; and Tracey Adams mostly sits around appearing in need of a weight-reduction clinic. Perhaps we'll see Tracey eat low-cal meat in Deep Throat IV. —Kurt Blume

MORE THAN FRIENDS

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by John T. Bone; starring Angela Baron, Carol Cummings, Frankie Leigh, Cassandra, Taja, Kassi Nova, John Dough, Tom Byron, Mark Wallice and Elise. Videocassette by Fantasy Home Video.

In productions of yore Angela Baron's throat and gonads were exemplary of the Germanic work ethic, but scuzz vids starring Baron will soon only mention her name. Director John T. Bone deserves a special award for splicing together the Baron/Tom Byron/Cassandra threeway. This segment, scrutinized three separate times, gives no proof that Baron, who moans, sways and hangs her mouth open throughout, is ever actually penetrated. Warts and pimples are on a butt presented as Baron's, though Baron's ass is free of blemishes. A tattooed wrist reaches around (Baron's has no tattoo), with long, red fingernails (Baron's are clear). Tom Byron's cock protrudes from Baron's ass cleavage; she humps like it's inside. The rest of the fucking in Friends is real, but after these trick inserts, it's hard to believe anyone really means it. —C. S.

PRECIOUS GEMS

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by Nicholas Pera; starring Samantha Strong, Lynn LeMay, Nina DePonca, Randy West, Robert Bullock, Bionca, Brandi Wine, Blake Palmer and Ray Victory. Videocassette by Cal Vista.

In porn screenwriting, the formula of having the macho stud team with the doofus friend has been in use ever since the first clit flitted across the screen. It's a stale premise, one that only savage slamming can usually save, but Precious Gems has just enough nuggets to keep it from the spew slop pile. Randy West and Robert Bullock play the stud and the pud who decide to go on a Hawaiian vacation and wind up being double-booked in a room with Lynn LeMay and Samantha Strong. That's it for the story, gang. On with the fucking. West gives nasty Negress Nina DePonca a lei she'll never forget, mowing her lawn while she writhes about in a grass skirt. Surfer Blake Palmer moondoggies Lynn LeMay with his "totally tubular" tool. Sam Strong proves strangely lackluster in a lesbo lunch with LeMay and the dreary climax with Bullock. There are a lot of aerial shots of the islands, and even a couple of outdoor poi-porkings, but it seems a lot of the cast had their minds on the sights instead of the slammings. Ultimately, these Gems are only semi-precious. —Sam Lowry

Phantom X: Nikki Knights going muff-to-muff.

PHANTOM X

Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Paul Thomas; starring Aja, Shanna McCullough, Nikki Knights, Jamie Gillis, Pamela Rose, Kim Alexis, Kristi Leigh, Tom Byron and Mike Horner. Videocassette by VCA Pictures.

"An erotic opera from Paul Thomas," reads the box copy of Phantom X, more a threat than a promise. The prospect of professional pudenda prancing about in overblown costumes, singing to one another at the top of their lungs between fucks, is enough to send the professional porn reviewer back to vocational school. Luckily, Thomas relents, cutting his fustian just short of whole-cloth grandiosity. He may burden his performers with an overabundance of period garb and a ponderous script, but at least he doesn't tax Aja's vocal chords with anything more formidable than the heads of Tom Byron's, Jamie Gillis's and Mike Horner's cocks. Which is the more inflammatory scene: Horner's cum dribbled from Aja's lingering lips, Nikki Knights's pixie face pressed between Aja's butt humps, or the closing Aja/Shanna McCullough catfight? Aja puts the X-factor into Phantom. —K.B.

FRISKY FABLES

Shot on Video.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Ronald Sielky; starring Stephanie Rage, Ona Zee, Brooke Summers, Billy Dee, Randy Spears and Don Fernando. Videocassette by Las Vegas Video.

The most bewitching thing about this twisted updating of the enchanting Snow White fable is the magical transformation of Stephanie Rage's boobies back to their pre-mammoplasty pertness. Aside from providing irrefutable argument that Rage could have saved thousands of dollars and preserved a sylphlike appeal by foregoing costly and mutilating cosmetic surgery, Fables presents the questionable allure of Brooke Summers and Ona Zee. Too much has already been said about Zee (though not nearly as much as has been said by Zee) for anything more to be added, except that she has gotten neither younger nor less grotesque. As for Summers, her admirable willingness to jump on protruding pricks and prostrate herself beneath their blasting jizz is overshadowed by her lamentably lackluster miniscule tits and a disturbing absence of muscle tone. Rage does her best to salvage the mess, tossing trim to twat thumper Don Fernando and twisting her hips and lips for a wild ride on Billy Dee's dick. Still, Rage's frisky chemistry is insufficient alchemy for this flat fable. —H. W.

SEARCH FOR AN ANGEL

Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Henri Pachard; starring Lynn LeMay, Jasmine, Brandy Alexandre, Renee Morgan, Randy West, Ray Victory, Robert Bullock and Scott Irish. Videocassette by Western Visuals.

In stipulating what type of female model he desires to promote a new line of lingerie, entrepreneur Randy West insists, "No bimbos." West wants a woman "sophisticated, intelligent, literate." Who will she be? Dana Dylan? Bionca? Viper? Surely, in the loosely parallel world of pornographic reality, any of those three would do, but none are listed in Search for an Angel's credits. While the bimbos who do appear may in fact be imbued of a certain cunning feral intelligence, none, thank God and the porn talent pool, are overtly sophisticated or literate. Rawest and most natural is sultry and cinnamon-skinned wonder of mixed-blood eugenics Jasmine, whose uninhibited primal and primitive acceptance of Ray Victory's blunt black club and simultaneous vaginal hole satisfaction of Victory and Scott Irish is approached on the unpolished-passion scale only by the spontaneous, snakelike writhings of ingenuous goo-wallowing Renee Morgan. Anyone seeking dirty angels need look no further. —K. B.

69 PUMP STREET

Shot on Video.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Milton Ingley; starring Aja, Sharon Mitchell, Dana Lynn, Kathleen Jentry, Scott Irish, Louis Paul, Peter Lawrence and David Flex. Videocassette by Zane Entertainment Group.

A cast of cream-inducing dream cooze ought to be warranty enough. If boff-video satisfaction can't be guaranteed by the full-fucking appearances of three slick chicks, each limber, lubricious and lovely, then what has the porn world come to? An impasse of dumb fuckers, faceless dicks and fumbling pricks; a cul-de-sac of gross miscasting, slothful acting and listless sexing; a dead-end hidden behind the billboard of Sharon Mitchell's worn, weary and woebegone mug. Aja is young, beautiful and probably doomed—a scintillating combination when mixed with a whip of dick dollop—but evidently she missed her wake-up call throughout the shooting of Pump Street. Dana Lynn is the archetypal runaway cream puff, but her pristine private parts are primarily useless under Louis Paul's bluntly boring boning. Kathleen Jentry is a nimble ginch, capable of balling the brains out of any man, an impossible task when coupled with Scott Irish. And the immemorial Miss Mitchell, like a dog without a home, looks just more pathetic when given a bone. Pump Street is chump meat. —Victor Battle

WHERE THE BOYS AREN'T

Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Judy Blue; starring Tori Welles, Barbara Dare, April West, Fallon, Kristi Leigh and Summer Rose. Videocassette by Vivid Video.

Eager beaver-licker Tori Welles is the putative star puta of this ginch-only onanist's dream; three muff-munching, clit-crunching episodes feature the lightning-fast vibrato of Tori's twat-thirsty tongue, an organ no less devilish than that of the serpent of Eden. Welles sticks her slobber swabber into the nooks and crannies of nookie and fanny in one dual-doxie duel with the face and flaps of bitchin' Barbara Dare and two three-tramp trollop slops wherein she takes muff on the chops and looks like she could really benefit from a pair of spurting cocks. No dicks spurt, though Paul Thomas and Joey Silvera do take up an over-allotment of fully clothed, babbling screen time. April West claims her share of no-dick ream time, rubbing her hot-oiled body on Fallon's greasy slit and helping Dare slurp pussy juice from the long shaft of a just-fucked two-headed dong. A lot of guys are going to long to be Where the Boys Aren't. —C.S.

Hot LETTERS!

A Grand Opening

I work for a large pizza chain, traveling a lot from franchise to franchise. I spend about three months at each new location, giving novice owners "expertise, experience and guidance" as the home office calls it.

Last spring I launched an operation in Tucson, Arizona. I didn't know what to expect, but I was pleasantly surprised (make that joyfully surprised) by the couple who were about to open the pizza parlor.

At 6-2, Jim was ruggedly handsome, a former football player gone into business for himself. But most of my attention focused on his wife, Brenda. If a girl was ever built for unadulterated lovemaking, it was Brenda. To begin with, she had truly awe-inspiring knockers, mouth-watering melons, 40Ds at least. The palms of my hands itched to knead and cradle them.

Brenda's well-rounded, fleshy buttocks, supported by long legs and firm calves, worked together like two cats in a canvas sack. There was a natural sexuality about her—a no-nonsense body language that stated fucking was a normal and joyous expression, and why be coy about it? I had to ream her!

The three of us put in long, hard hours preparing for the grand opening. I worked behind the counter, right beside Brenda and Jim, showing them all the tricks of the trade.

It was extremely hard to concentrate. Space was tight behind the counter, and Brenda brushed against me frequently. I'd feel a soft tittie pressing against my arm, or the crack of her ass would slide over the front of my pants, skimming my suddenly raging hard-on. One time, she bent over and I got a beautiful view of her luscious, hanging tits. She glanced at my crotch; she must have seen the bulging outline of my prick.

I despaired of ever getting the voluptuous redhead alone. Even if I had, I couldn't be sure how she'd take a proposition. I didn't need to piss off an ex-football player and jeopardize my job; so it never went beyond a furtive feel now and then.

I worked with Jim and Brenda for over a month. The day before I was scheduled to return to headquarters, Jim took me aside.

"I want you to know how much Brenda and I appreciate all your help."

"I enjoyed it," I said.

Jim smirked. "I noticed. Look, Larry,

Brenda and I have talked this over. You are attracted to my wife."

I thought I was going to get clouted. "Who wouldn't be?" I replied in defense.

"We would like to show our appreciation in a personal way, by having you join us for the evening."

"You mean . . . ." I was flabbergasted.

"A threesome," he said.

I was dumbfounded. Could a wet dream become a horny reality? I wasn't convinced until we were at their place, and Brenda took me by the hand and led me into the bedroom. Jim watched Brenda kiss me deeply, her tongue probing my mouth. She licked my lips and wedged her crotch into mine.

Gentleman that I am, I helped her off with her blouse. Her bra followed, dropping beside the bed. There, revealed to me in all their mammary splendor, were Brenda's magnificent boobs. Kneeling, a naughty little pout on her lips, she caressed her 40Ds, running her fingers over their flawless surface. That was a bit too much to take standing still; I firmly grabbed her, bringing one of her titties to my mouth. I devoured it, licking it, chewing on it tenderly.

Jim watched our performance intently. He took out his deep-red rod, a thick eight-incher, engorged with blood. As his wife responded to me, Jim stroked his long dong slowly.

Brenda breathed heavily, pushing her bluejeans over her shapely hips. Her delectable pale-blue panties peeled off as I pulled them down her beautiful, long legs, past cute little knees and feet.

Her juices sparkled on her reddish bush. I caressed her snatch, trailing my middle finger between her full pussy lips. Brenda whimpered. I found her love button, circled it and flicked it rapidly until she gasped for mercy.

I stripped while she gulped air. My cock, leaping for attention, brushed Brenda's thigh, and she giggled with delight. Her long fingers grazed the length of my prick, then lingered to spread pre-cum over the head.

She rolled onto her stomach and rose on her knees, her proffered slit and round eye winking alternately at me. She looked back over her shoulder and said softly, "I love it doggy-style. Mind?"

Mind? Brenda's full, creamy ass beckoned. Talk about a grand opening! I caressed one beautiful, sultry moon, then the other.

Panting, she begged, "God, I need it."

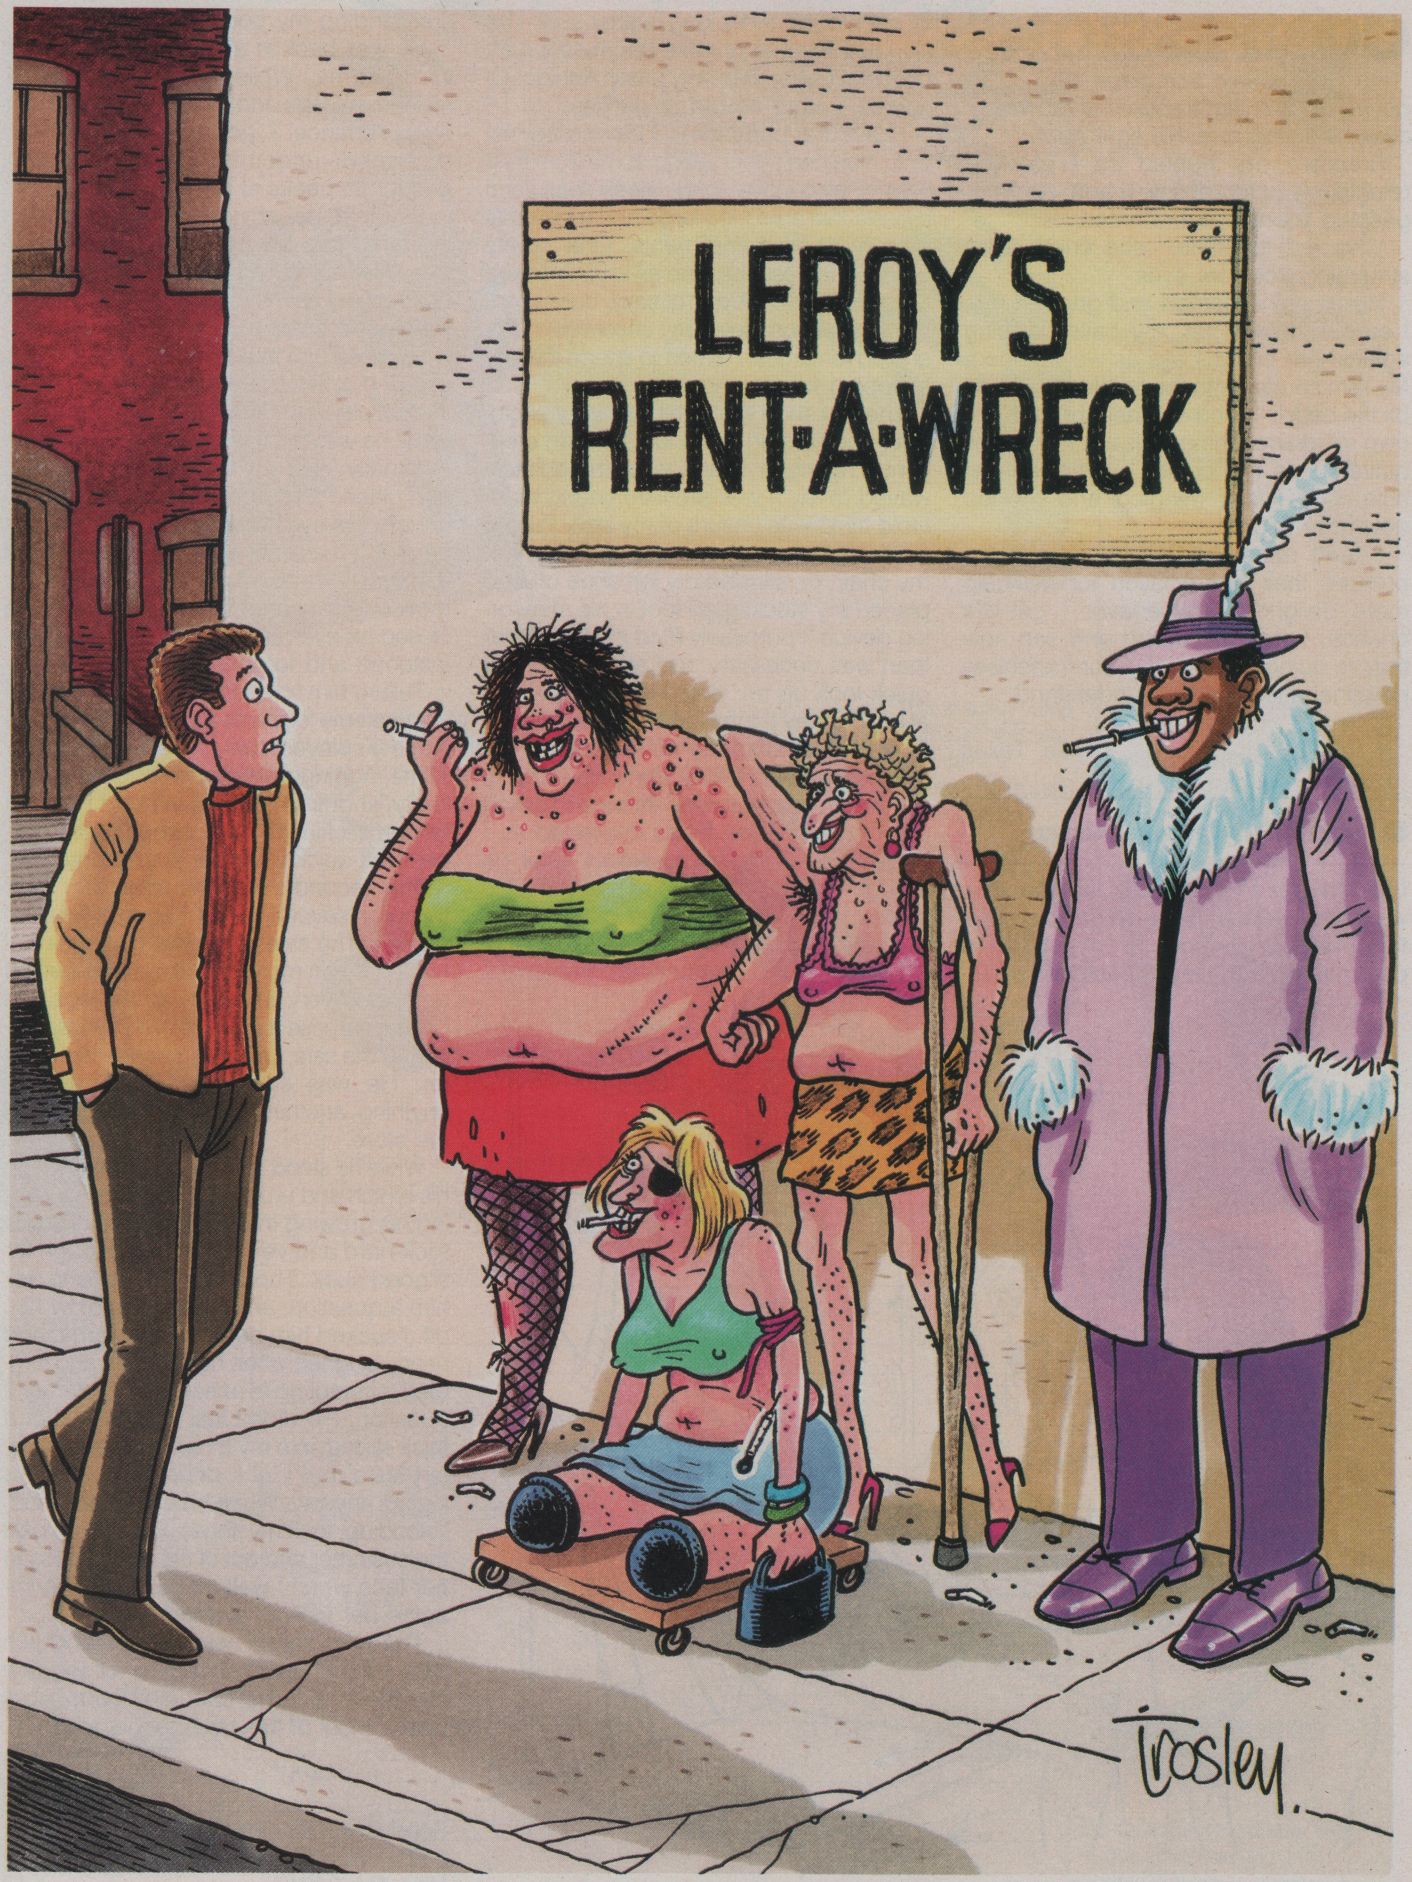

Kneeling behind her, I placed the head of my cock just inside her pussy lips. Not only warm and wet, the magnificent little slit was a snug fit. With one stroke, I penetrated her, driving my rod deep into her sopping twat.

Her snatch clamped onto me as I drove my shaft home again and again, gripping her fleshy hips. Brenda sobbed and arched her back to receive my thunderous thrusts even deeper.

Her husband rolled closer, putting his cock near his wife's drooling lips. Brenda took hold of his pole with her mouth, swabbing her tongue like a sloppy, wet mop along his huge prick. My thrusting and rocking moved her head up and down on her husband's cock. The three of us were finally fucking together.

I reached around and teased Brenda's constricted nipples, then I tormented her inflamed love nub. She groaned; her mouth wrapped around her husband's shaft.

Suddenly, Jim exploded. Brenda's cheeks contracted as she sucked him dry, giving him little strokes as she gulped down his cum. Jim's spunk ran down her chin, dribbling onto his tight nuts.

Brenda's ass rippled as I plunged relentlessly. Her pussy made sucking, gasping sounds as I rammed her.

"I've got to come," she cried, tears streaming from her eyes.

Her pussy spasmed and gripped me. I erupted inside her, my balls slapping against her creamy ass as we pumped. My jism spurted into the helpless girl. She bit the bedding and moaned through her own mind-wrenching orgasm. Her knees quivered as my cream overflowed her hole. Our juices mingled and trickled down her thighs.

I can't remember a couple who expressed their appreciation for my help more delightfully. Whenever I get the chance, I stop in Tucson and see how they're doing. I like to give our franchises personal attention. You understand.

Shop Till You Slop

I took a day off from work last month—we all need a mental-health day now and then—and indulged in my favorite pastime, exhibitionism. I dressed in a flimsy silk blouse and a long leather skirt. The skirt is a favorite of mine because it's slit up the left side, reaching past midthigh. Of course, I wore no bra or panties.

I have the body for it. I have a perfect butt; men can't help yelling at me from their cars. I also have long, sleek legs, firm breasts that aren't too large and a face that gets a lot of compliments. One of my boyfriends describes me as an oversexed Michelle Pfeiffer. A pair of sexy, open-toed, black heels completed my ensemble. Lusty and adventurous, I aimed to spend the day shopping for new shoes.

The first shoe store I hit was very exclusive, specializing in the latest Italian creations. Taking a seat I was immediately waited on by a well-dressed young man. I told him I was unsure of my size. Pulling a little velvet-covered stool up in front of my chair, he slipped my left shoe off and placed my stockinged foot in his measuring device. I purposely lifted my leg higher than was necessary and afforded him a quick look up my skirt. He stole glances at my creamy thighs, taking an awful long time to determine the correct size.

When he was finally done gawking at my pussy, he cleared his throat and asked what type of shoe I was interested in. I smiled and told him to select what he thought would look good on me. He smiled brightly and rushed off. Flashing my cunny caused my juices to bubble to the surface and dampen the short hairs surrounding my pouting lips.

He was back in a flash, several boxes in his arms. While trying on shoes, I spread my legs and flashed my wet bush every chance I got. The young man squirmed uncomfortably, snatching desperate peeks at my open snatch, trying not to be obvious. I was hot and bothered too. My cunt leaked profusely; thin rivers of cunt juice seeped into the crack of my ass, dribbling to stain the red-cushioned chair.

I worked him to a fever pitch, the bulge growing in his trousers. When he got to the last pair of shoes, I knew he was ready. While he was fitting the shoe on my left foot, I casually lifted my stockinged right foot and placed it squarely on the bulge of his crotch. His eyes widened in surprise, but he didn't move away. While he fastened the strap, I rubbed my sole in a circular motion, slowly pressing up and down. He closed his eyes and moaned, the strap unfastened and forgotten.

Telling him to open his eyes, I reached between my legs and slipped three fingers into my splayed cunt. He stared blatantly at me frigging myself and shuddered violently, shooting his load in rapid bursts. I felt the stickiness seep through his trousers. I left quickly without buying anything.

The second store was more fun. After trying on several shoes, I bought a pair of pumps. The salesman was disappointed I didn't try on more shoes; he was getting an eyeful every time I spread my legs. But I had a surprise for him. While he was ringing up the sale, I slipped behind the counter. He was startled but couldn't say anything; another customer had come into the store.

While he stood shocked, I moved to face his crotch and unzipped his pants. Extracting his growing throbber, I saw that it was rock-hard and veiny. Just big enough for a good suck. The customer came to ask him a question, and I started to blow him off. I sucked him deep into my throat and nearly laughed when he stuttered and fumbled, attempting to answer the customer's question. He didn't last long and shot a thick stream into my throat. He had a nice, tart taste, but I let it dribble out onto his loafers anyway. When his cock slackened, I stood up, took my shoes and walked past the customer and out of the store. I missed her face when I walked by, but I can imagine her look of surprise.

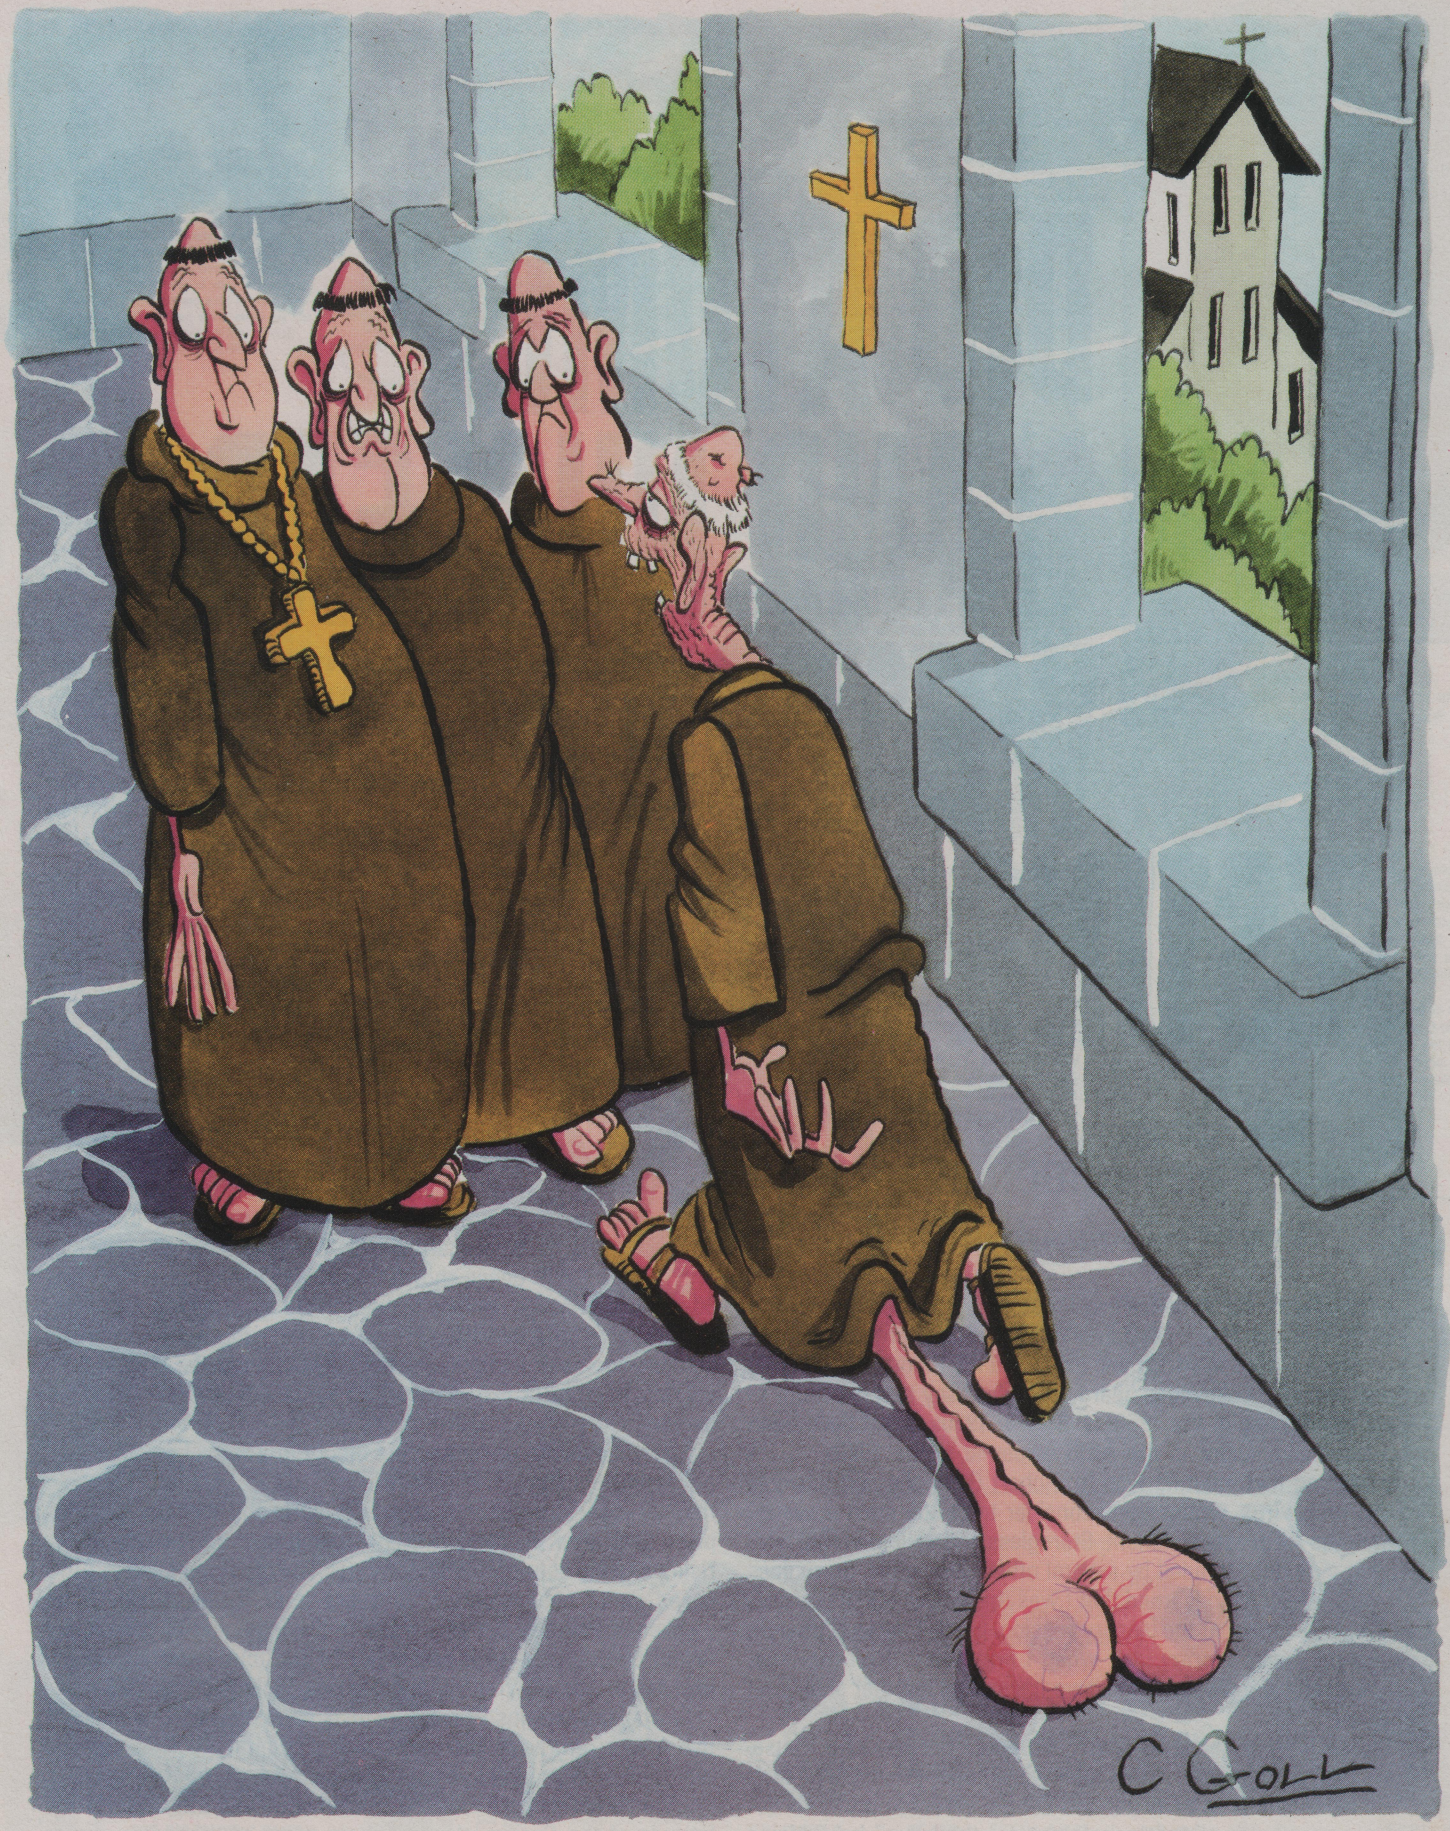

The next time I need a mental-health day, I think I'll go shopping for jogging shorts—at a large sporting-goods store where most of the salespeople are men.

DID ATOMIC AND NUCLEAR WEAPONS TESTING CAUSE AIDS?

by Ron Chepesiuk

In November 1985, American scientist Dr. Ernest Sternglass stood up before the plenary session of the Brussels International Symposium on AIDS in Africa and explained his theory. About 1,000 distinguished colleagues heard Sternglass say that exposure to nuclear testing in the 1950s and early 1960s might have been a significant factor in the AIDS epidemic of the 1980s.

Attending that meeting was Dr. Robert Gallo, the codiscoverer of the AIDS virus, whom many consider to be the most powerful man in the AIDS establishment. Sternglass and Gallo met that evening at a dinner attended by several other colleagues. Sternglass recalls, "When Gallo learned that I was the one who had presented the AIDS theory at the plenary session, he said to me, 'I thought your theory was a crazy idea when I first heard it on the floor. But after thinking about it, I believe it's something that should be pursued.' "

Sternglass now believes that Gallo could not heed his cause, even if the atmospheric A-test theory is actually proved to be fact. "The damage has been done, and Gallo's interest now is to develop a vaccine to protect people against the virus," he explains matter-of-factly.

But this has not stopped Sternglass from trying to explain two of the unexplained principal aspects of the AIDS epidemic: the timing of the sharp rise in AIDS cases between 1980 and 1982, and the initial geographic concentration of AIDS cases in Central Africa, the Caribbean and the east and west coasts of America.

Dr. Sternglass believes the answer lies in the atomic and nuclear weapons testing program, which saw the United States explode at least 212 nuclear devices in the atmosphere from 1945 until 1963, the year the U.S. and U.S.S.R. ratified the Limited Test Ban Treaty. He argues that Central Africa, where AIDS is thought to have originated, is also an area of high rainfall, which could have deposited large amounts of strontium-90 from the radioactive fallout of weapons testing.

When ingested in the body, strontium-90 concentrates in the bone marrow and irradiates bone-marrow cells. Sternglass explains that evidence shows that at very low levels, strontium-90 can inflict enough damage to weaken the body's immune system.

It destroys and damages the white cells, the body's principal defense against infectious diseases. This may make people susceptible to an AIDS-like virus, which somehow may have mutated and triggered the spread of AIDS.

Sternglass, who presented his theory in a formal paper before a scientific gathering in Philadelphia in May 1986, says studies show that the concentrations of strontium-90 in the diet did not take place until after the large hydrogen bomb tests of the mid-1950s, rising sharply between 1962 and 1963. The great increase in AIDS cases came approximately 20 years later, when infants with weakened immune systems—due to the ingestion of radioactive fallout by-products—reached maturity and thus were potentially exposed to sexually transmitted diseases, including the AIDS virus.

Sternglass explains, "Scientific tests show that 90% of radioactive fallout returns to the earth with precipitation. This explains why the AIDS epidemic began in areas of high rainfall, such as Central Africa and the Caribbean islands, which are close to the latitude of the Pacific Islands (where some of the larger, dirtier American and French tests occurred) and rose most rapidly in the high-rainfall areas of the east and west coasts of North America, with less occurrence found in the arid and semiarid regions of North and South Africa and the Central Plains states of the U.S."

Sternglass adds, "Because strontium-90 is transmitted only through diet, my theory also helps to explain why Southeast Asia, although high in rainfall, shows few AIDS cases. Fish and rice [the principal food staples of Southeast Asia] have a much lower strontium-90-to-calcium ratio than milk, bread, meat, fruit, potatoes and vegetables, which are the dominant food groups in the U.S., Caribbean and African diets."

Dr. Sternglass cites scientific literature published by researchers from around the world to support his theory. For example, to back his claim that fallout can cause significant damage to the immune system, he presents studies that show areas heavily exposed to fallout—such as New York City—have experienced an epidemic of encephalitis during the period of nuclear weapons testing.

One can't dismiss Dr. Sternglass's AIDS theory as quackery. His impressive resume and scholarly articles portray a respected scientist with a long and distinguished career in industry. As an adolescent, Sternglass fled Nazi Germany with his parents in 1938. The family eventually settled in the U.S., where he earned a Ph.D. from Cornell University in 1952.

Spending much of his professional career working as chief of Westinghouse's research lab, Sternglass was involved in developing better ways of producing X-ray images with lower doses of radiation. He also discovered a new type of camera tube that was used on the first lunar mission to relay pictures back from the moon. The device is found today in astronomical observatories circling the globe in outer space.

In 1963 he testified for the American Association for the Advancement of Science in favor of passage of the Limited Test Ban Treaty and has appeared as an expert witness against nuclear facilities from Shoreham, Long Island, to Hanford, Washington. In 1968 Sternglass discovered that low levels of radiation can increase a child's chances of getting leukemia and cancer as well as increase a baby's chances of dying during the first few weeks of infancy.

In 1969 Sternglass published his findings in the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists and stirred a controversy. "People did not want to hear that low levels of radiation can be harmful," Sternglass explains.

So far, reaction to the scientist's AIDS theory has been largely limited to Great Britain. In March 1988, the British publication New Statesman reported that when the issue was raised in the House of Commons, health officials responded that they were considering whether his theory "warranted evaluation." Initially, the junior health minister Lord Skelmersdale had told the House of Lords that "speculative suggestions of this nature are not worth following up."

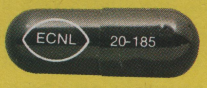

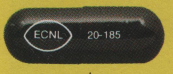

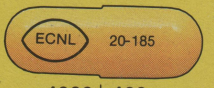

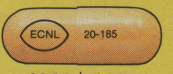

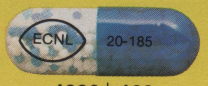

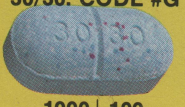

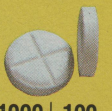

"That is not a scientific response," Sternglass suggests. "The scientific community can start by examining all the papers I have written over the years showing that radiation is much more dangerous than we thought."

He remains convinced that his radiation-based theory of how the AIDS virus spread illustrates graphically the dangers that the entire spectrum of nuclear power and weapons poses to mankind. "All my life I felt that nuclear war presents the greatest threat to human health and survival. Moreover, the nuclear establishment has lied about the dangers; so I believe I have a responsibility to reveal all the evidence I can find showing nuclear war as a menace to mankind. I'm proud of that."

PLAYING WITH FIRE

Maybe it's just the uniform, but something about firefighters turns me on with a capital T. I've dated several and fucked several more.

I now call California home, but every time I visit friends in the Midwest I always look up a certain firefighter I know. This particular time I was visiting, I was only going to be in town for a couple of days. True to Murphy's Law, Rick was on duty. He works for a full-time department that works 24-hour shifts. I was leaving the next evening, and Rick was working a day job on his off days. Since I hadn't had sex for a couple of weeks I told Rick that being this close to him would make me go nuts if I didn't get hold of his cock.

"Why don't you come see me at the station?" he asked matter-of-factly.

The idea caught me totally off-guard. "What about the rest of the guys?" I asked.

"Fuck 'em. Actually I'd rather you fucked me. It's no big deal. Come up at about 10 p.m., and I'll leave the back door open for you."

At the thought, my pussy tingled in anticipation. "Great," I said, my voice heavy with lust, "I'll see you—every inch of you—at ten."

I pulled into the parking lot at the rear of the station just before ten, my heart pounding and my juices flowing. The back door was unlocked and I stepped inside. I walked across the rig room and opened the door to the training room only to come face-to-face with an absolute hunk. I was lost for a moment, adrift in a sea of lust, when he said, "Hi, come on in. I'll go tell Rick you're here. He's waiting for you."

He smiled knowingly while turning to leave. Younger firefighters tend to be more self-conscious about their physiques than their older counterparts, and this guy was a prime example! With visions of this young stud pumping his pole into me, I stood by the doorway as he disappeared upstairs. A minute or so later, Rick padded down the stairs wearing nothing but a pair of gym shorts, his coveralls slung over his arm. With just the shorts covering his manhood, it was clear why he was known around the department as "Rick the dick."

"Hi, babe," he said laying aside the coveralls. He grabbed me, then wrapped me in strong arms that crushed my thinly covered tits into his bare chest. "It's been a long time."

I sucked his tongue into my mouth and ground my now hypersensitive tits into his bare chest, the nipples straining to burst through the flimsy fabric. My hand glided up Rick's leg until I reached his crotch. I started tracing the outline of the hose coiled in his shorts. Rick's dick instantly began to respond to my touch and poked out of the bottom of his shorts.

Rick groaned into my mouth and then pulled away. "Come with me for a minute. I have to shut down the lights in the rig room."

Rick continued on across the rig room as I stopped behind the fire engine to look at the tools and ladders loaded on the truck. The overheads went out, but a couple of work lamps stayed on so the room wasn't completely dark. Rick walked to where I stood and said, "Now where were we?"

"Right about here," I said, slowly pulling down my top, exposing my 34Ds to the cool air, which caused my nipples to leap at him.

"My, it has been a long time." Rick's monster crank sprang to life, straining the fabric of his shorts.

I couldn't stand it any longer. I was burning up with desire. I started licking my tongue around my lips in eager anticipation. "I want you now. Here." I pulled his shorts down in one motion. Caressing the length of his dick with both hands, I made it pulse and throb in my fingers. "Now," I hissed.

Rick reached out and turned me around by the shoulders, then gently pushed forward. I understood his intentions and leaned my arms against the back of the fire engine. Rick was delighted when he flipped up my skirt and found I was wearing a pair of silky sheer crotchless panties. I looked over my shoulder and asked if this was why it was called a "tailboard."

"Could be," he said, and eased the head of his monster inside me, causing my cunt to twitch. Most of the guys I fuck aren't as well-hung as Rick and he knows it. So he slowly slid his meat into me, letting me savor every wonderful inch. When his balls bumped my pussy lips I felt like I was suspended on his cock. He wasn't even moving inside me when my cunt started its familiar contractions. No build up, just an instantaneous wave of pleasure washing through me. My body started to spasm uncontrollably. I was incapable of any humping motion, just short, jerky movements, my ass cheeks clenching together. Finally, I caught my breath and leaned my head against the tailboard.

"Damn. It must have been a while," Rick said, stroking my back and ass. Then he grabbed me by the hips and quickly withdrew up to the bulbous head of his dick. A split second later he slid back into me. All I could do was sigh—I was in heaven. With my pussy now accustomed to the size of his magic wand, he picked up the tempo, establishing a steady, smooth rhythm of long, deep strokes.

"Oh, my God," Rick said, panting hard. I felt his dick swell even bigger. I began bucking my hips back against him, taking him even deeper. Then with one last thrust he buried himself to the hilt, and I felt his cum shoot into my cunt. I sighed with pleasure, then looked back over my shoulder and said, "Not bad for starters."

Rick laughed as he straightened up, pulling his now near-flaccid tool out of me, stringing a trail of cum on the floor. "Let's go get more comfortable," he said, leading me from the room.

We walked through the doors and were almost hit by one of the other firefighters sliding down the pole on his way to get a Coke from the soda machine. His mouth dropped in amazement, and he started to fumble for an apology about not knowing we were downstairs. Then his look of embarrassment turned to one of lust as he noticed that I made no attempt to cover my naked boobs. Rick told him to relax and to keep me company, that he had to run upstairs for a minute. Rick winked at me and said he would be right back.

The young firefighter didn't know how to react until I stepped forward and grabbed a handful of his crotch. The fires that Rick had fanned earlier now roared in my cunt. I wasn't looking for a night of tender loving. Right then, all I wanted was a good hard fuck. And Kevin was more than willing to oblige. What he lacked in finesse, he made up in pure energy and enthusiasm. No sooner had we entered the training room than our clothes were on the floor. I pulled Kevin down on top of me, allowing him to enter me as soon as my ass touched the floor. I clung to him, grunting my pleasure as his spike drove into me again and again. I felt his cock twitch and swell as he neared the boiling point. This excited me even more and triggered my own climax.

As my senses returned, I became aware of voices and hand clapping. I opened my eyes to find Rick and two of his colleagues standing around Kevin and me applauding. Neither of us had heard the others come in the room. Kevin became embarrassed while I gave Rick a pointed glance. I looked up from the floor at three raging hard-ons.

Rick, as innocent as a newborn, smiled and said that he knew about a certain fantasy of mine, and added that the other guys had unselfishly agreed to help me out.

As powerful as my last orgasm had been, my juices flowed like a river forced out of its banks by the prospects before me. The stud I had met earlier didn't disappoint my imagination. He was hung every bit as long as Rick and bigger around to boot.

"Come here, you," I said, motioning for him to lie on the floor. "Now you," I said to the other guy standing there slowly stroking his cock. Not nearly as long as Rick's or Studly's (as I have come to call him), it was a fine specimen nonetheless, and I knew just where I wanted it. I gave his rod a playful kiss. "You park right here in back." Studly lay on his back as I faced him straddling his legs. I hefted his hose in one hand, marveling at the mass of it. A shudder coursed through me in anticipation. I raised up on my knees planting the huge knob squarely in the center of my slit and started working it inside. About a quarter of the way down I knew I was ready to accommodate him. I relaxed my legs and slid down the length of his pole. I could tell it was as good for him as it was for me by the way he rolled his head back and the long "Ahhhh" that escaped his lips.

Firmly seated at the base of his cock, the tip bumping my cervix, I looked over my shoulder and said, "Well?"

Dave, the firefighter behind me, didn't need any more coaxing. Using some of the juices that flowed around Studly's prick,

The feeling was incredible!

I lay wedged between two hot bodies, my pussy pulsing.

Rick needed no instructions. He stood in front of me, pressing his prick against my lips. I licked the tip of it and then took him down to the base. Rick's motion forward caused me to move back against the other two guys and set up a nice rocking rhythm for all of us. I felt like cocks were going to meet Dave sawed at my pussy in earnest while Rick let their momentum carry me up and down the length of his

The Trials and Triumphs of Larry Flynt

A Tough Row Re-hoed

by Allan MacDonell

Anyone can be a playboy and have a penthouse," trumpeted publisher Larry Flynt's opening statement in the premier issue of HUSTLER Magazine, "but it takes a man to be a hustler. With this philosophy in mind, we are launching the most sophisticated men's magazine of the century."

HUSTLER's hustler has come a long way since the July 1974 debut of his convention-shattering periodical. While the maverick mag's sophistication may occasionally have been open to debate (shit jokes, splayed clam and open talk about taboo subjects are not considered debonair everywhere), HUSTLER's influence upon publishing, sexuality and civil liberties will yet be recognized as the impact of the most important magazine—men's or otherwise—of its time.

Based in the unlikely cultural hotbed of Columbus, Ohio, HUSTLER was the first national magazine to show genitals in all their hairy (or sometimes shaved) splendor, razor stubble and spread lips undiffused by airbrushing or Vaseline-smeared lenses.

The frankness of HUSTLER's what-you-see-is-what-you-eat photo-sets was matched only by the candor of its articles and the outrageous street-smart barnyard humor of its jokes and cartoons.

The skin-book public, long wallowing in a void between the glass-tower fantasies of Playboy and the wanna-be Playboy emptiness of Penthouse, snatched the brazen HUSTLER off newsstands at an astounding rate. Readers, drawn to Flynt, voiced their likes and dislikes about his fledgling publication. Rather than being dismissed with a glib reply, all reader mail was read personally by Flynt, and his magazine's content was determined by what those letters asked for.

"We're not going to let readers feel cheated the way men's magazines have in the past," vowed Flynt in a July 1975 HUSTLER interview. "The unique thing about HUSTLER is that we respond to what the people are, rather than what we think they are. We're not trying to cram our philosophy down our readers' throats."

Audience participation, as much as anything, led the formative enterprise further and further beyond regulation one-handed fare. Though devoted to the entertainment of adult males, clearly HUSTLER was no ordinary jerk-off manual.

Larry's reader-inspired package of sex, humor and shock garnered extraordinarily close attention from reactionary bluenoses, leading to extraordinary harassment. From its inception, HUSTLER was a political journal as well as a sex publication. Unflinching portrayals of freedom-raping by elected officeholders, coupled with a liberating examination of sexual attitudes and choice, were rewarded with obscenity busts, trials, convictions, bail denials and lengthy, costly appeals.

In the course of defending the Bill of Rights, providing raucous belly laughs and offering the American people a chance to get comfortable with their libidos, Larry Flynt became a millionaire many times over.

Referring to his financial victories, Flynt in 1975 opined: "I don't think that success should be measured by what a man achieves in life, but rather in terms of the obstacles he had to overcome to achieve this success."

Larry Flynt's obstacle course to success began on November 1, 1942, when he was whelped squalling and bawling into Magoffin County, Kentucky. Farming dirt held little appeal for the pubescent porn-king-to-be, who also suffered from the area's lack of available sex partners,

At the age of 14 Larry ran off to join the Army. Two years later he signed up with the Navy, staying there four years. Putting in another year at a General Motors factory, Flynt hustled enough assets to open his first bar, Larry's Hillbilly Heaven. Thirty nightclubs later, the man who the world would call Mister Sleaze launched the first of his HUSTLER clubs, a string of Ohio strip bars. A newsletter notifying patrons of club activities eventually mushroomed into HUSTLER.

The backwoods bar owner, with no experience in publishing or editing, decided to take on the slick world of high-gloss periodicals. With such unlikely origins, it's no wonder that HUSTLER lived by its own rules, and broke those too.

Early Iconoclasm: Taboos fell fast and hard in the pages of HUSTLER, raising cocks, and sales, every bit as fast and hard. For Flynt, pink became the color of money. A December 1974 HUSTLER Honey spread a little wider than the rest of her skin-book sisters. This open depiction of female sexuality appealed to a great mass of broad-minded males who, 15 years later, keep coming back for more. HUSTLER became the most flattered magazine in history, as imitative competitors and countless clones copied the hole package.

The open-clam layout was here to stay and, more importantly, a HUSTLER tradition was set of redefining the contents of mass-market sex books. In September of 1974, Flynt answered the question of what could be more nude than naked, presenting a model with her snatch shaved bare. The photos seem tame today (particularly in light of subsequent hairless beavers), but aroused fears of reprisals at many newsstands.

Naturally, HUSTLER made room for an opposing view, running a hair-ball bombshell, the split-quimmed version of a bearded lady.

The hair issue came to the fore on HUSTLER's July 1976 cover. In special commemoration of our nation's 200th birthday, a toothsome pelvis graced the magazine's second-anniversary edition, its pudenda mound ensconced in a bikini bottom fashioned from the beloved Stars and Stripes. Peeking out above this strip of Old Glory was a row of dark pubic bristles. No other magazine had ever displayed pubic hair on its cover—one more sales-boosting precedent for Flynt.

The milestone July '76 issue also introduced two features destined to become HUSTLER staples: Bucky Beaver, a hard-hatted, cigar-chomping carpet chewer, joined the staff as HUSTLER's mascot, just in time to inaugurate Beaver Hunt. This monthly album of girls-next-door has granted hundreds of real-life cooze-owners the fantasy of displaying their unfettered charms to the world's most demanding men's-magazine readers. Rest assured: Hundreds more liberated and lively lovelies are yet to come.

Innovations, like HUSTLER readers, kept coming. All of us have been deep inside at least one pregnant woman; the April '76 HUSTLER presented the opportunity to become superficially involved with another. HUSTLER showcased old ladies (a middle-aged spread in September 1975), fat ladies, a lady with her snake, a lady opening her honeypot to a large bear, a three-titted lady, famous ladies (Grace Jones, Valerie Perrine, Suzanne Somers, Angie Dickinson and Sylvester Stallone), ladies with ladies, ladies with men, and even ladies who used to be, and partially still were, men. Joe or Josephine back in February '76 had a great set of knockers suspended from her chest, with a length of knockwurst hanging below his belt.

A youngish John Holmes pulled out what he had dangling between his knees in June of 1975. Nude sunbather Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis's bush went public in August of 1975, provoking mild outrage on HUSTLER's home turf when then-Ohio Governor Jim Rhodes was spotted buying a copy of the Jackie-O skin show.

The outrage went national with a December 1975 pictorial of Butch and his Georgia Peach. Even some stalwart readers were incensed. No one quite knows what was most inflammatory: the awesome heft of Butch's prong, the full, curvaceous lasciviousness of Georgia Peach Desiree Cousteau, or the stark contrast between Desiree's milky-white tits and Butch's jet-black prick. Regardless of the bone of contention, "Butch: A Black Stud and His Georgia Peach" was protested by both the KKK and the NAACP, setting a standard for controversy that was to be an earmark of Flynt publications.

"So there I was in the woods hunting for bear when I thought, Hey. . . why not go after game that's really dangerous!"

Funny as Shit: "What's really wrong with most people today is they take life too seriously," posited Larry Flynt in his March 1976 Publisher's Statement, defending a January '76 cartoon of a woman, silhouetted in a window of the White House, saying: "All I want for Christmas is my two front tits." (The wife of the man who was President in 1976 had recently undergone a double mastectomy.)

Though living much of life as though it is an uproarious hoax, Flynt takes seriously his right to trample the conventions of good taste in pursuit of comic relief. His hand-picked cartoons, one of the magazine's most popular attractions, also account for the greatest bulk of hate mail. Again and again in Publisher's Statement and Feedback columns, Larry counters charges that HUSTLER's cartoons are racist, sexist and just plain sick. "Tastelessness is a necessary tool in challenging preconceived notions in an uptight world where people are afraid to discuss their attitudes, prejudices and misconceptions."

Just how uptight that world actually is became clear in the legal hassles resulting from cartoons of a nun shitting crosses and Santa Claus brandishing a huge penis. ("This is what I've got to ho-ho-ho about.")

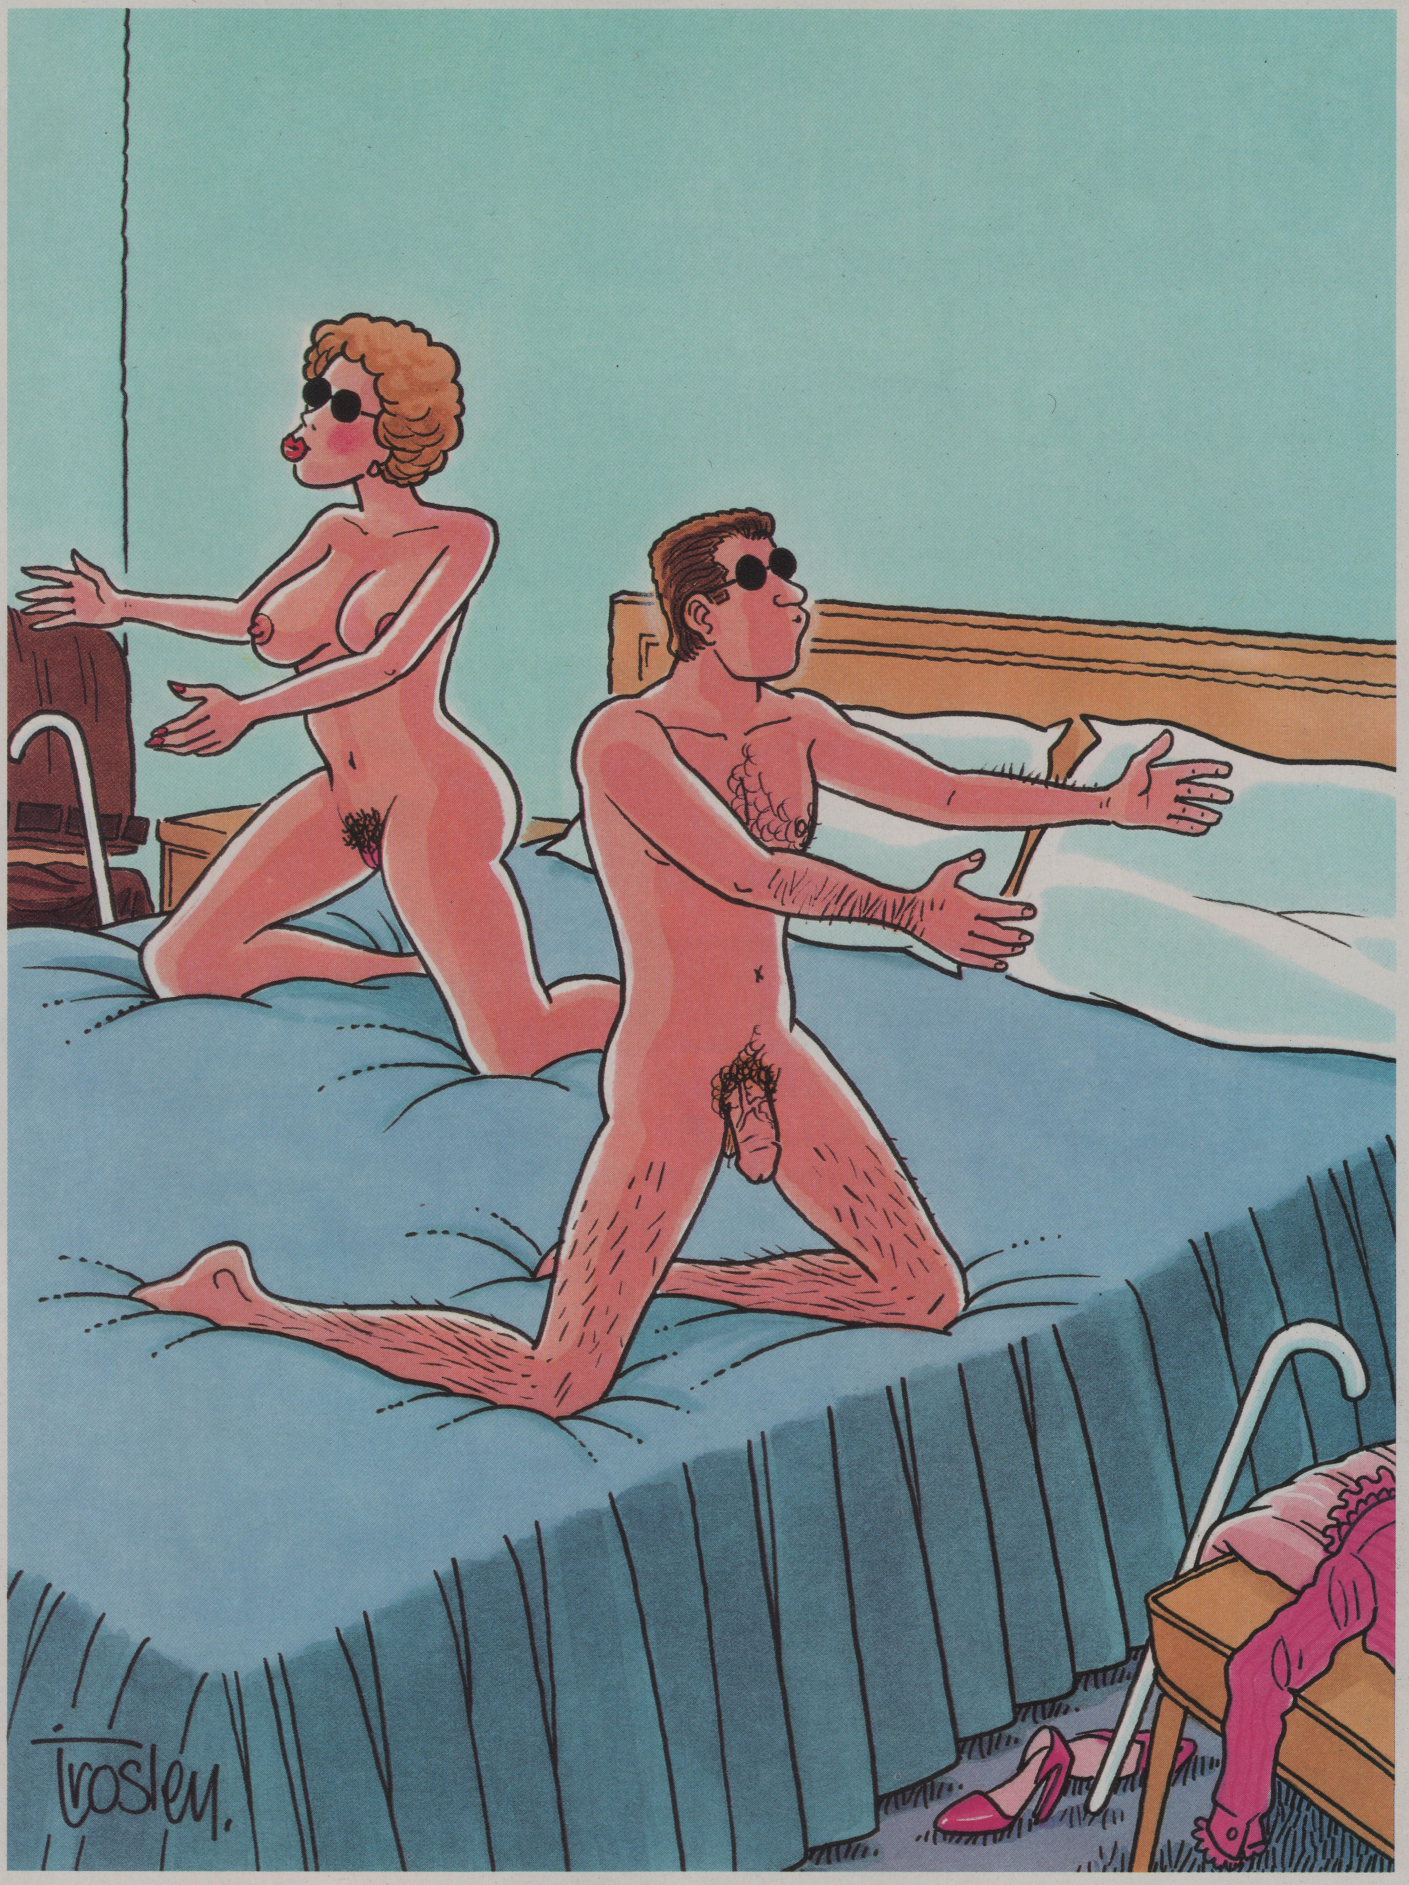

Not everyone can take a good, irreverent, provocative, razor-sharp joke; those who can still insist that HUSTLER's are the best.

Shocking Realities: Aside from renovating America's bedroom lives and redefining social and political satire, Flynt stressed hard-news coverage of issues too tough for the straight press. By turns stomach-wrenching (HUSTLER's reports on the horrors of war, child abuse, torture, abortion and sexually transmitted diseases were accompanied by photos that brought the obscene reality home with a grisly power beyond mere words), hilarious (HUSTLER reporters have gone to Castro's Cuba in search of cooze, comparison-tested fortified wino wine and pondered the lighter side of death) and harrowing (HUSTLER has taken readers into the twisted minds of Hillside Strangler Kenneth Bianchi, the Republican National Committee and Los Angeles's hitman cops), Flynt's brand of journalism is always timely and hard-hitting.

Many topics considered unspeakable when first tackled head-on by HUSTLER—child abuse, the VA coverup of Agent Orange aftereffects, the shame-

RIPE FOR PLUCKING

Consuela has better things to do than gather dates. After giving her father and mother, uncles, aunts, brothers, sisters and cousins the slip, Consuela can usually be found hiding among the ruins of the old hacienda, dreaming of el Norte. Dissatisfied with village life, this Aztec goddess is ready to kick off her huaraches for the first American stud who offers to get her the hell out of Baja Bahia.

She's due south of Tijuana, dudes. Don't get crushed in the stampede.

LARRY FLYNT:

HEAR HIM NOW

On the occasion of his magazine's 15th birthday, the originator and publisher has consented to undergo his first HUSTLER grilling in more than five years.

HUSTLER: Have you toned down?

FLYNT: No, I think I have finally accepted that one person can't make a difference, a significant change in society. It's too government controlled. Not even a President can do it.

HUSTLER: What about the magazine? Is it toned down?

FLYNT: There is a desensitization process. People used to pick up HUSTLER and say, "Wow! Wow! Wow! What are they going to do from one month to the other?" HUSTLER is just as outrageous today as it was then, but the readers have become desensitized. The readership we have now is a hard-core readership. I don't want it to be Larry Flynt's magazine. I want it to be the readers' magazine. What they want to read about, what they want to see.

HUSTLER: Is it safer to publish a men's magazine today?

FLYNT: It's real easy to get a conviction on an obscenity charge. Did you ever see the people who sit on jury duty? Old ladies, 70, 80 years old, people on welfare, retarded people. Professional people get out of pulling jury duty. You're getting judged by a bunch of nerds.

I don't have a lot of formal education. When I started HUSTLER, I had no idea I was violating the law. Hard-core pornography was shown all over the country at that time. All of the sudden I find myself in jail facing 25 years for publishing a magazine. This is not the America I thought it was.

HUSTLER: Why were you prosecuted so zealously?

FLYNT: The Vanderbilts, the Rockefellers and the Mellons, the DuPonts, they own the country. Someone comes along with a magazine that's making a couple million dollars a month, and they say, "Hey, what is this? Something's got to be done about it." They're always afraid of something they can't control. And nations are controlled by sexuality, either through their religion or through their government.

HUSTLER: What kind of people do you like to fuck with best?

FLYNT: I like to get phonies, feminists, Falwellians.

HUSTLER: Real or phony feminists?

FLYNT: Both.

HUSTLER: For a while Larry Flynt was a feminist. What happened?

FLYNT: The feminist is a dying breed, just a bunch of frustrated cunts that thought they were getting cheated out of something. It's unfair to discriminate in employment practices with women, but as far as her having a baby, that's her business. She's going to have to take care of it, not the government, not the company she works for. She doesn't have to have the kid.

HUSTLER: What do you get from going after these phonies?

FLYNT: None of the other press will expose these people for what they really are. Remember Billy James Hargis? That big evangelist out of Tulsa? We brought him down with HUSTLER. There'd been four kids that he'd married; he'd had them perform sex with him before the ceremony. They came talking, and we were the first to listen.

The evangelists are all gone or going. It won't completely die out, but they'll never prosper again the way they did.

HUSTLER: What's the most important thing Larry Flynt has given the world?

FLYNT: An awareness. Nobody in the country hasn't heard of HUSTLER Magazine, and probably 50 million people have read at least one copy. We pointed out the Constitution to a lot of people. They didn't know what it said. But the singular effect that HUSTLER has had on America is on sexuality. People are less ashamed today than they were 15 years ago. Whether they're doing it more or not, they're not tied up in knots like they were. HUSTLER makes people feel free to have fun.

HUSTLER: Is it still fun for you?

FLYNT: Not as much fun as when I was my own talent coordinator. We'd advertise for models; they'd come in from those little farms. Young girls, 18 years old, out of high school, coming to attend Ohio State. She stops by the HUSTLER office; she's known as a cream puff. Nine chances out of ten, she's going to get nailed.

Nobody believes this, but I used to screw 18 to 20 women a week, as long as they were different ones. I can't believe myself how many times I'd take two or three women to bed at the same time, before and after HUSTLER. I had an insatiable appetite. I could never rape a woman; I might hold them until they make up their mind.

My brother and a couple of my friends used to tell me—they were the ones keeping count; I wasn't—"Man, you're pussy crazy. To fuck that many girls, that's like taking a piece of meat and throwing it out in the street after you finish with it." But that's not true. Many, many, many of those girls came back. Some are still in contact with me today. Now I don't know if they're just saying this or not, but today they openly admit that they're in love with me.

HUSTLER: You're a very charming guy.

FLYNT: Well, everything works too. After I was shot and paralyzed, I blocked sex out of my mind; the drugs had something to do with it. Then I had the surgery to get rid of the pain, and I kicked the drugs. One night I was lying in bed watching a movie, just following the action, and I had a series of multiple orgasms. I reached down, and there was cum all over my legs, up by my thighs, but I was only partly hard. I went to a doctor who was a specialist, a urologist. I'd never lost my feeling down there, but bullet fragments had blocked the motor nerves to my penis. He inserted two silicone rods about the size of my pinky, and now whenever I want it hard, I squeeze the head a couple of times. A woman can't tell the difference. I've got a mail-order bride. I'm more content than I've ever been.

HUSTLER: Will anything replace Althea?

FLYNT: No. It was really true love between me and her, and there will never be another her. She was the most selfless person I ever knew. We were inseparable. Couldn't break up the relationship if I'd wanted to. She would have killed me first. You know when you try to get rid of a dog, you take it 100 miles away and put it out of your car, and then when you get back home, the dog still shows up? Well that was Althea. That's how deeply she loved me. It wasn't a form of insanity; it's just that she really did love me.

HUSTLER: With all the tragedy and prosecutions, why haven't you quit?

FLYNT: I decided a long time ago, before I ever started the magazine, that if you're going to be a bear, be a grizzly. I approach everything in life like that. I can't halfway commit myself to something. I can't be on the middle of the fence, and I can't stand people who are on the middle of the fence. You are what you are. I started dreaming when I was a ten-year-old kid. I never lost sight of those dreams.

HUSTLER: In November 1980's What's Wrong With American Politics you wrote: "I have great faith in the intelligence of the American people." Have you retained this faith?

FLYNT: An uneducated society is very easy to control, but there's going to be a lot of turmoil because the world is smarter today than it was 100 years ago. We're going to see some changes. The bomb is going to be dropped.

The most dangerous country in the world right now is Israel. If Syria ever tried to take over Israel, the Israelis would drop the big one on them. Everybody knows that Israel's got it. It can be bought.

Within the next four years there will be a nuclear disaster, and the whole world is going to be affected by the poisonous gas. That's going to bring them together. They'll come closer, realizing that they are going to destroy the Earth if they don't be friends and start treating everybody equally.

HUSTLER: Did you really hire hitmen to kill Frank Sinatra, Walter Annenberg, Bob Guccione and Hugh Hefner?

FLYNT: I play a lot of jokes on people. I've got a weird sense of humor. People take things too seriously, including themselves.

I disagree with the Supreme Court decision that you don't have the right to scream, "Fire!" in a crowded theater. I think you have a right to do that. You should be prosecuted for whatever injuries are caused as a result of the scream, but you have a right to say it.

HUSTLER: Do you still enjoy being Larry Flynt?

FLYNT: Yes. I like Larry Flynt, and I enjoy being Larry Flynt. The principles that I believe in are the basic principles of all people. It's a moving thing to have people walk up to you in an airport and grab your hand and say, "Thanks for saying what I didn't have the chance to say."

HUSTLER: Any 15th-anniversary message to the readers?

HUSTLER: When I was saying let it all hang out, I wasn't referring to sex specifically, but, dammit, have balls. Stand up for yourself. Don't be a nerd. Stand up for what's right, not what you think is right, but what really is right.

HUSTLER: How are they going to know?

FLYNT: They have to have love and sympathy for other people. At the same time, they have to have courage to be willing to defend themselves. They should not be uptight about sexuality. It's the greatest gift we've got.

Flynt was overcome with visions of Jesus Christ and a man identifying himself as the apostle Paul.

ful plight of America's homeless, precarious air-travel safety standards—later become national news trends. Of course, such groundbreaking coverage has its cost. In 1980 journalist John J. Sullivan Jr. paid the ultimate price: murdered while documenting war crimes in El Salvador, a reality that would not be exposed to the mainstream reading public for months or years to come.

On Its Own: Most magazines rely on advertisers—tobacco, alcohol, electronics and cars—for the substantial bulk of their revenues. A quick perusal of HUSTLER reveals no such ads.

"Since its inception, HUSTLER has responded to its readers, not the advertisers," reads a notice to readers on the cover of the December 1975 issue. "Because of this unique editorial policy, we don't have the advertising support enjoyed by our competitors." HUSTLER does enjoy the support of its paying customers, already a million strong back then.

HUSTLER's advertisers came to reflect the wants of its audience, promoting major fuck-film releases and direct-purchase marital aids and hard-core smut. Other stroke books shun the mail-order sex ads, imposing self-censorship. Admittedly, some back-of-the-book hucksterism is flagrant, but Flynt adamantly believes freedom of the press must be extended to all, or it will not exist for any. HUSTLER draws the line at outright fraud. If an advertiser fails to deliver on his obligations, his ad is dropped immediately.

Sharp-eyed readers enjoy the conglomerates of tiny fuck scenes that make up mail-order mania; many others are titillated by ads created specially to fill the mag's Madison Avenue void. Parodies of cigarette adverts show rotted lungs, svelte skeletons and funeral processions. A gleaming promotional shot of a Toyota is captioned: "From those nice people who brought you Pearl Harbor." A woman, plugging tampons, sits on a toilet overflowing with menstrual blood. A subscription promotion, smirking openly at the effete Playboy campaign, asks: "What sort of man reads HUSTLER?"

Whoever he is, he's always in for a surprise from his favorite magazine and the man who makes it possible.

Holy Christ!: Flynt thrived on sacrilege. His magazine featured a Scratch 'n' Sniff Centerfold; he instigated serious reviews of X-rated movies (setting the industry standard to this day); he profiled William Carter Spann, President Jimmy's jailbird nephew; Bits and Pieces and Asshole of the Month took the air out of countless sacred, bloated gasbags; he made fun of Santa Claus and nuns and offered $1 million to such celebrity muffs as Caroline Kennedy and Julie Nixon Eisenhower to strip and pose HUSTLER-style. What next, but the ultimate blasphemy?

Flynt found Jesus in 1977. Larry had been alone with Ruth Carter Stapleton, the evangelist sister of the then-President of the United States, high above the Colorado Rockies in his pink-painted Jet Commander when the Lord struck. In a paroxysm of rapture Larry has since attributed to a chemical imbalance in his brain, Flynt was overcome with visions of Jesus Christ and a man identifying himself as the apostle Paul. For hours Larry prayed, first for his wife Althea, then for the soul of dead comedian Lenny Bruce. Once satisfied that Lenny was safe in the arms of Jesus, Larry turned a newfound God-consciousness to his business at hand.

"God may have walked into your life," quipped wife and copublisher Althea, "but $20 million a year just walked out."

Flynt vowed his magazine would become an instrument of social change, remaining sexually explicit, but no longer exploiting the weaker sex. God's influence resulted in the infamous bimbo-in-a-meat-grinder cover (with the caption "We will no longer hang women up like pieces of meat") and in Flynt being named Asshole of the Month by overwhelming reader acclaim.

Despite such indications of deep devotion to the Divine, Larry's conversion attracted scoffers. Many claimed that Flynt was only using Jesus to stay out of jail, much like the born-again Watergate felons.

Larry had been convicted and sentenced to up to 25 years in prison, with more court cases lined up, at the point where God entered his life.

Upon being arrested in Atlanta, Georgia, for personally selling his magazines at the Book Shack on Peachtree Street, Larry said, "I feel that if I am convicted, I should be executed. Maybe then the American people will realize how ridiculous these obscenity laws are."

Little did he know that someone would attempt to take that execution into his

At first, built-to-the-hilt exotic dancer Gloria was outraged when the new club told her she would have to share a dressing room with another dancer. After all, this big-breasted bombshell is a star who leaves grown men breathless and blithering by gyrating her unreal torso onstage.

When she found out it was Ruffino, another top-billed bun wiggler who worked the Ladies Only room, she brightened immediately. Instead of getting shit, Ruffino got tit from Gloria, who eagerly quenched her thirst for thick dick. The hot hunk had never seen a woman put together like this, so he quickly took advantage of her high-powered bod and both the dirty dancers rode each other well into the next act. Looks like strip joints may finally get their Fred and Ginger.

own hands, and still the American people would not wake up to the absurdity.

Hate Bullets: "Somebody was sending Flynt a message, that we don't want his type of filth around," declared Lawrenceville, Georgia's then-Mayor Rhodes Jordan after Larry Flynt was gunned down by a sniper's bullets on March 6, 1978, in the mayor's sleepy, God-fearing town.

"If I had shot him from 30 feet with a rifle," boasted fellow Georgia peach Billy Carter to columnist Jack Anderson, "he wouldn't be paralyzed."

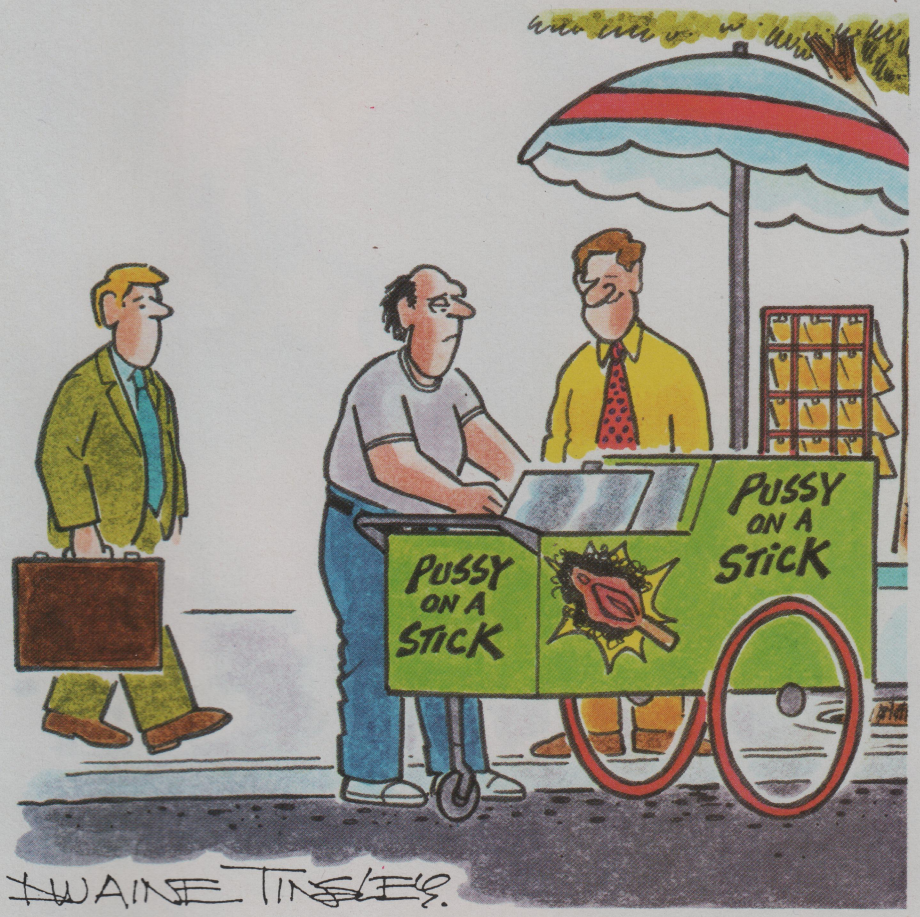

The three .44-caliber Magnum bullets that ripped into Flynt's midsection from less than 50 feet away were meant to silence him forever. Flynt and his attorney Gene Reeves (who had caught one bullet that split and ended up half in his pancreas and half in his liver) were rushed from the street where they lay to Button Gwinnett Hospital, a mile from the scene of the attack. Larry's spleen and several feet of intestine were removed. After three days, Flynt was transferred to Emory University Hospital in Atlanta, where he wavered on the fringes of life.

Prayers and condolences streamed in from figures private and public, including Georgia's then-Governor George Busbee, rival publisher Hugh Hefner, Lenny's widow Honey Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Jane Fonda and the convicts of the Marion Penitentiary.

Along with the messages of support came speculation. Who shot Larry Flynt? Perhaps the Mafia had resented his recent expansion into the magazine-distribution business. The CIA may have wished to silence the man who had taken full-page ads in 15 major newspapers offering $1 million for "information that makes it possible for the truth to come out" about the JFK assassination. Were the bullets sent from the deer rifle of some racist redneck incensed by HUSTLER's portrayals of integrated sexuality?

The only certainty is that Flynt was reaching millions of the working class. Someone had been frightened enough by Larry's message to attempt the ultimate censorship.

The assassination attempt was a failure on two counts. It didn't kill the outspoken, controversial anarchist, and it didn't shut him up. Paralyzed, but not crippled, Flynt was back in the October '78 issue, picking up the fight where he'd left off.

After running hospital-bed photos of its publisher's gaping wounds, his magazine launched a series of reports investigating the assassination cover-ups of John F. Kennedy, Robert F. Kennedy, Martin Luther King, Malcolm X and George Wallace.

Confined permanently to a wheelchair with a bullet lodged below his spine and suffering severe pain, Larry came to rely more and more upon the strength and shared vision of wife Althea Flynt. A $90-a-week go-go dancer 11 years his junior when they met at one of his HUSTLER clubs, Althea had been with HUSTLER Magazine from its inception, showing pink in an early layout and climbing the masthead from contributing editor to copublisher within the first year-and-a-half of publication. She and Flynt were married August 21, 1976, when Althea was all of 22, and honeymooned at the Fifth Season, a swank and legendary New York brothel.

With her husband increasingly affected by constant agony and mind-numbing narcotics, Althea assumed the leadership of the company, freshly relocated to Los Angeles, California. The magazines, which many observers had expected to collapse without Larry's 20-hour-a-day hands-on guidance, were kept alive in large extent by Althea's dedication, passion and drive.

Tragically, Althea's devotion to her ailing spouse contributed to her downfall. Constantly at his side as Larry sank into a haze of pain and narcotics, Althea could not help but slip into the snare of drugs. Addiction would plague her the rest of her life.

Both Flynts hit all-time lows. It looked as if they could go nowhere but down.

Hell on Wheels: In November 1982 Flynt underwent a revolutionary form of laser surgery to cauterize the sensory nerves to his lower extremities. For the first time in years his legs did not feel as if they had been plunged into a vat of boiling oil. With the pain gone, Larry was able to halt the massive doses of drugs.

After weathering the severe depression that commonly follows withdrawal, Flynt was back with a vengeance. In the process of bringing HUSTLER to what many would consider its pinnacle, he stood the mainstream media on its head, outraged the U.S. courts system and delighted millions of closet anarchists nationwide.

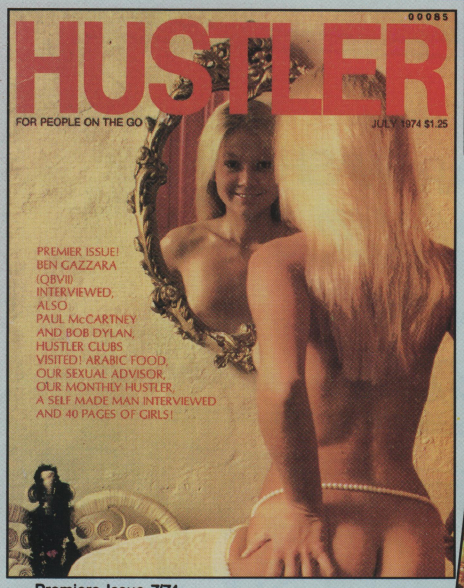

The press mastery began with Larry's claims to possess videotapes of Alfred Bloomingdale's murdered ex-mistress, Vicki Morgan, in sexual consort with FALWELL: Not after I kicked the goat out.

INTERVIEWER: I see. You must tell me all about it.

FALWELL: I never really expected to make it [redacted] but then after she showed all the other guys in town such a good time, I figured, "What the hell!"

INTERVIEWER: But your [redacted] isn't that a bit odd?

FALWELL: I don't think so. Looks don't mean that much to me in a woman.

INTERVIEWER: Go on.

FALWELL: Well, we were drunk off our God-fearing asses on Campari, ginger ale and soda—that's called a Fire and Brimstone—at the time. And [redacted] looked better than a Baptist whore with a $100 donation.

INTERVIEWER: Campari in the crapper [redacted] . . . how interesting. Well, how was it?

FALWELL: The Campari was great, but [redacted] passed out before I could come.

INTERVIEWER: Did you ever try it again?

lots of times. But not in the outhouse. Between [redacted] and the shit, the flies were too much to bear.

INTERVIEWER: We meant the Campari.

In the 200-year history of our Constitution, one of the most important decisions in support of the First Amendment was handed down because of this ad parody. By a unanimous 8-to-0 vote, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that public figures cannot sue for "emotional distress" because they are the subject of satire or parody. We thought everyone who has heard the news, or is interested in free speech, would like to see the parody that started it all.

Flynt was in solitary confinement for eight months. Not one person or journal protested, not even his own.

several officials high in the Reagan Administration. This broadside was backed up by the announcement of Flynt's candidacy for U.S. President on the Republican ticket. Republican because: "I am wealthy, white, pornographic and, like the nuclear-mad cowboy Ronnie Reagan, I have been shot for what I believe in."

Flynt took time out from the campaign trail to leak videotapes of a government cocaine-buy sting of automaker John Z. DeLorean to CBS-TV. Pursuing the DeLorean tangent, Larry played reporters an audiotape purportedly of a government informer threatening the life of DeLorean's daughter should the beleaguered automaker pull out of the cocaine deal.

Ordered by a federal judge to reveal the tape's source, or else pay a $10,000 daily fine, Flynt shelled out the cash. Sexpot models delivered the money in crumpled one-dollar bills. Flynt appeared in various unlikely costumes. The fine, soon raised to $20,000 a day, eventually led to contempt of court charges that found Flynt sentenced to 15 months in a federal penitentiary, an unprecedented punishment in the land of the supposedly free.

At the time of Larry's contempt tribulations, mainstream political columnist Jack Anderson admitted possessing copies of the DeLorean audiotapes. Anderson speculated that he and Flynt had the same source for the tapes. Though he declined to name who that source might be, no charges were brought against Anderson. In referring to this selective prosecution, Timothy Leary stated in the January 1985 HUSTLER: "For eight months Flynt was shackled in solitary confinement, and not one important person or journal protested."

Not even the ones he owned.

Supreme Vindication: The contempt charges were eventually dismissed, but not before more than half a year had been served behind bars and Flynt's Presidential candidacy was effectively blocked. Upon his release from prison, Larry revamped his editorial staff and concentrated upon running the world's most provocative men's magazine.

Tragedy was not yet done with Flynt. On June 27, 1987, his beloved Althea slipped beneath the water in the bathtub of their Hollywood Hills home, and into death, ending years of suffering and illness.

Althea's may have been Flynt's greatest loss, but his biggest win was on the way.

The November 1983 HUSTLER featured a parody of a Campari liquor ad that depicted the Reverend Jerry Falwell as a drunken money-grubber who'd gotten his first piece of ass off his own mother in a rank outhouse.

"I really felt like weeping," said Falwell of his first exposure to the bogus ad. "If Larry Flynt had been nearby, I might have physically reacted." Whether this physical reaction would take the form of shitting his pants or burying his face in the ground is unclear, but Falwell did sue. The $45-million lawsuit opened in Roanoke, Virginia, less than 100 miles from Falwell's headquarters.

U.S. District Judge James Turk ruled that the ad constituted no invasion of Falwell's privacy, and the Virginia jury concluded that the parody could not be considered libelous or defamatory. Nonetheless, jurors concluded that Falwell deserved a monetary reward, putting a $200,000 value on the anger and humiliation Flynt had caused him.

"What has been proven here," crowed the Reverend Falwell, "is that [neither] Mr. Flynt nor anyone else can prostitute the First Amendment."

Flynt, not about to let Falwell cornhole the said Amendment, waged a million-dollar campaign rather than forking over the 200 grand, taking the case to the United States Supreme Court. This course of action was especially courageous considering Larry's October 31, 1983, Halloween trick-or-treat outburst, in which he'd loudly termed the High Court justices "eight assholes and a cunt" to their faces.

Flynt's persistence paid off, both for himself and the press of America. In a rare unanimous decision, the High Court found in Larry's favor, ruling that a public figure is not entitled to punitive damages simply because his feelings had been hurt.

This latest triumph has not left Larry complacent. "HUSTLER's real achievement," he wrote way back in 1980, "has been surviving and growing in the face of deadly serious attempts to silence us." The man who has been shot, sued, arrested, tried, convicted, fined, termed insane and jailed, all for publishing HUSTLER Magazine, knows that the same threats that existed to freedom when HUSTLER first went to press are still around 15 years later.

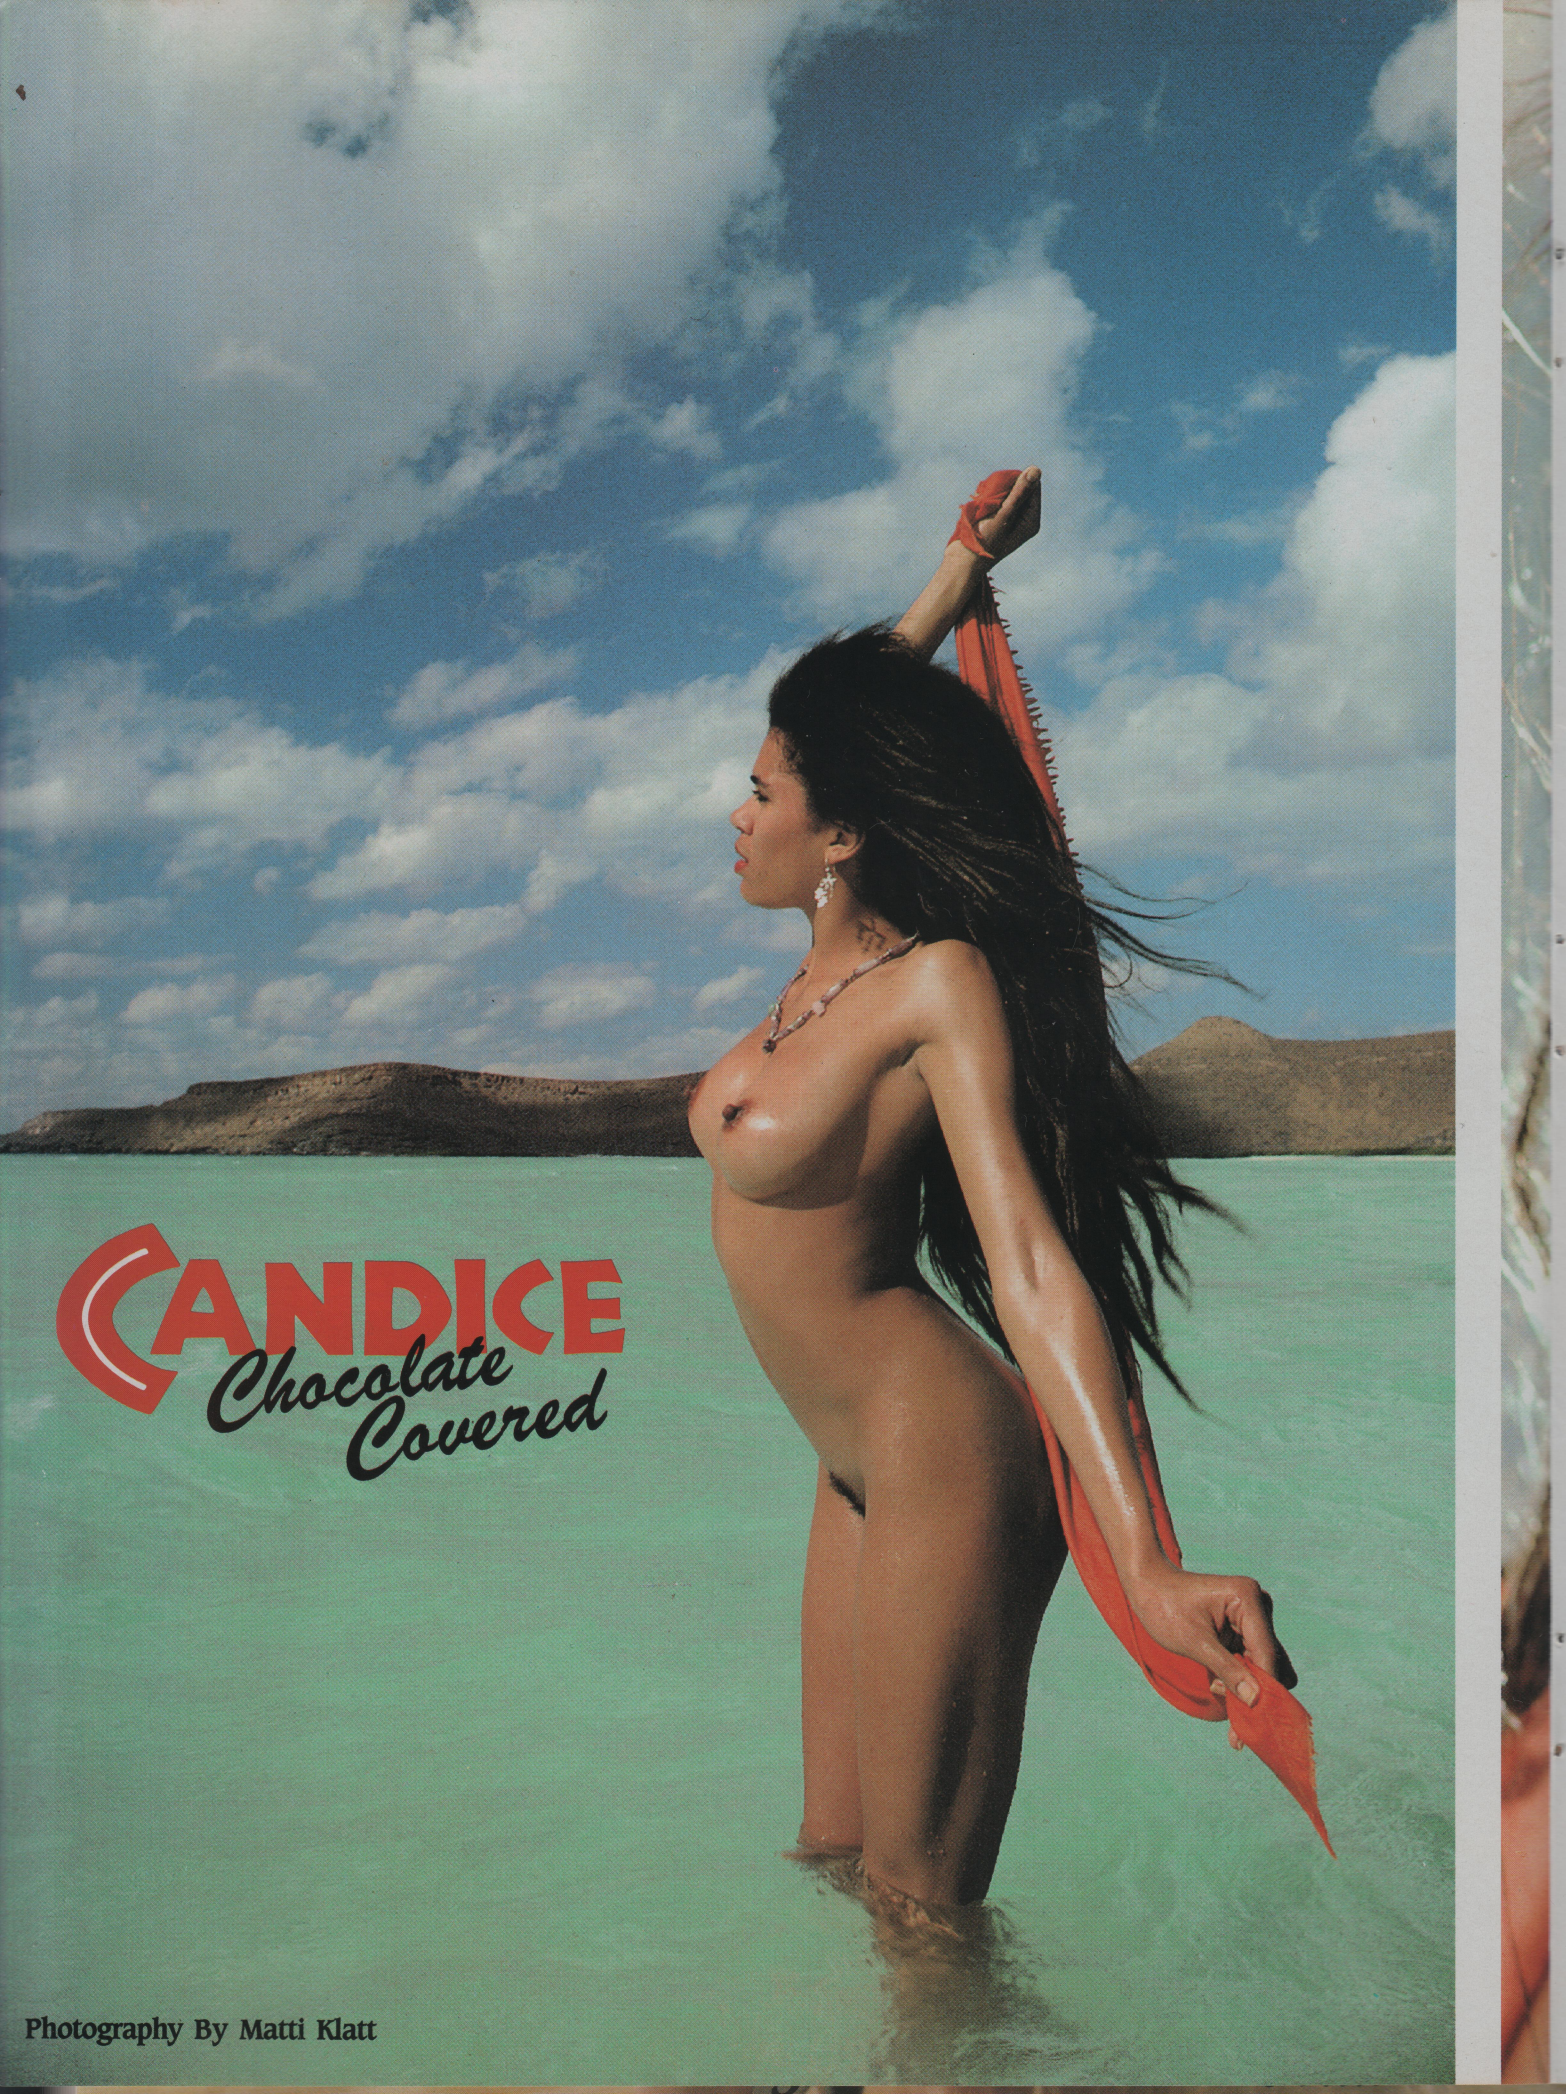

"Getting shot down on a Georgia street didn't stop me," declared Larry Flynt in April 1979. "And they never will be able to shut me up."

So far, the man is going strong.

"And—get this—we're not rats anymore. . . we're RODENT AMERICANS!"

HUSTLER HUMOR

A poacher shot three ducks, loaded them into the back of his pickup and covered them with a piece of canvas. But before he could leave, the local ranger pulled up in his jeep.

"What you got in the back there, boy?" the ranger asked.

"Nothin'," the poacher replied.

The ranger pulled back the canvas, revealing the three dead ducks. "So, where'd you get these?" he asked suspiciously.

"I found them," answered the poacher.

"Bullshit!" replied the ranger. "You shot these here ducks, and I know exactly where!"

The ranger picked up a duck, licked his finger, then stuck it up the duck's He pulled his finger out and sniffed it. "You got this duck from that thick of woods over yonder!" He did the same with the second duck. "You got this duck from over by that there river!" He stuck his finger up the third duck sniffed it. "You got this one from over by that shack! Boy, I've got to charge you with poaching and fine you accordingly! What's your name, and where you from?"

The poacher dropped his pants, stuck his ass in the ranger's face and said, "Why don't you find out for yourself, wise-ass!"

The HUSTLER Dictionary defines Uncle Tom's Cabin as: the first government-subsidized housing program.

Question: How does a woman know when her husband is losing interest?
Answer: When his favorite sexual position is "next door."

A cub reporter for a small-town newspaper was assigned to cover the upcoming local elections. Concerned about his inexperience, he asked a veteran newsman how one could tell whether or not a politician was lying. "That's easy, kid," the old-timer said. "Just watch his body language. If he touches his hair, he's telling the truth. If he scratches his nose, he's telling the truth. But if he opens his mouth and moves his lips. . . ."

A 90-year old man was interviewed on the reasons for his longevity. He said he smoked a lot and drank a quart of whiskey every day. He was then asked about his sex life. "It was fine until two weeks ago," he stated.

"What happened two weeks ago?" the interviewer asked.

"Herman died," came the reply.

"Who's Herman?" he was asked.

"He was the guy who used to put me on and take me off."

A friend of Joan's remarked, "Christ, you look just awful this morning."

"I'm exhausted," the run-down Joan admitted. "My husband won't go to sleep unless his hand is deep inside my cunt."

"So, what's wrong with that?" asked the friend.

"The son of a bitch walks in his sleep!"

Question: Why are synagogues round?
Answer: So there are no corners to hide in when the collection plate is passed.

Two cops were cruising around looking for trouble late one night when they spotted two little old ladies in the front seat of a beat-up 1967 Chevy convertible on a used-car lot. The place was closed; so they drove the patrol car up close and gently inquired, "Are you two ladies trying to steal this fine automobile?"

The woman behind the wheel showed him the bill of sale and giggled, "Oh, my goodness no, Officer. We purchased the car this afternoon."

The cop inquired, "Then why don't you put it in gear and drive it out of here?"

The old gal answered, "Oh, we don't drive. We were told if we bought a vehicle here, we'd get screwed!"

A man finally decided to have a sex-change operation. Months later, she was greeted by two of her friends. Both men congratulated her on her appearance and began questioning her about the most painful aspect of the grueling operation.

"Lopping off your dick must have been the worst part," one said, wincing.

"Ummm," she pondered. "No, not really."

"Whacking off your balls then," decided the other.

"No," she said. "That was bad, but not the worst."

"What was worse than that?"

"Getting my salary cut in half."

Report by Adam Parfrey

• Berlin, 1931. Germany is in economic chaos. Ernst Rohm's S.A., a/k/a the Freikorps, or Freebooters, march down the blood-spattered streets, breaking up meetings of Communists and Jews, and rallying the rising tide of National Socialist support.

• Chicago, 1991. Wall Street is in its death throes. Thousands of skinheads calling themselves Romantic Violence, along with a long-haired contingent of White Vikings, pummel protesters on a victory march for a five-state Aryan homeland.

Unthinkable? Think again.

Membership in white-power skinhead groups mushroomed tenfold from 1987 to 1988 alone. Warns Lenny Zeskind of the Center for Democratic Renewal, ''What we have here is not just the last, dying remnants of an old problem. What we have here is just the embryo of a future problem.''

''Like the ADL [Anti-Defamation League of the B'nai B'rith] has said, skinhead revolt is in its embryonic stage,'' declares blond, yuppie-clean White Aryan Resistance Youth leader John Metzger, recipient of the hands-on chokejob by CORE's Roy Innis in Geraldo Rivera's infamous nose-busting skinhead hoedown.

SKINNED ALIVE

If America's whites-only faction has a führer, Tom Metzger, of the White Aryan Resistance, is the man.

The embryo is a thousands-strong coalition of teenage bruisers that may yet become the delivered prayer of a faltering and splintered white-power movement.

"We don't believe in having a camp, having a gun tower, having uniforms," says Tom Metzger. Tom Metzger is John Metzger's father and leader of the umbrella organization White Aryan Resistance (WAR). If America's whites-only faction boasts a führer, Tom Metzger is that man. His modus operandi for the overthrow of "the Zionist Occupational Government" of the U.S. includes networking regional skinhead clans and long-haired, racist heavy-metal groups. He peppers the stew with guest appearances on TV. "We call it Jew-Jitsu, using their weight against them," explains Metzger.

Many people were secretly delighted by the busting of Geraldo Rivera's beak. What was to be an exposé of hate groups became a colossally rated cause célèbre and recruitment coup for the skinheads and Metzger's WAR. A few months previous, skinheads made headlines by calling then-porcine Oprah Winfrey a "monkey," causing the talk show hostess to announce that she had never felt such evilness and hatred in all her life.

American mall culture cannot seduce the skinhead legions. Disillusioned by what they see as the apocalyptic cynicism of our nation's government, they refuse to be siphoned off into the military. Tired of the MTV-style rock 'n' roll drug culture and disgusted by its adherents, skins adopt a clean-shaven, drug-free attitude in order to distance themselves from that mentality. The clannishness of skins protects and reinforces their sense of belonging. The step from clan to Klan was a natural one.

Tom Metzger, in his modest Fallbrook home and headquarters in north San Diego County, purports to be the only white-power-movement leader to take the skinheads under his wing. "They are what we predicted," gloats Metzger. "We predicted a rising of blue-collar kids. The sons of the middle class, which is losing hold in this country. The sons of the white poor. The sons of Vietnam veterans. We knew that these people would be getting kicked in the teeth, and we knew they would come someday. So they're coming. They could be skinheads, or they could be longhairs. We open our arms to anyone who's prepared to challenge the system, to be renegades."

Metzger infers that his frontline shock troops can no longer filter into "the system" by becoming security guards, shoe salesmen or fast-food concession managers. The ideal terrorist for this white supremacist leader is not a geriatric, pontificating anti-Semite. A racial terrorist must be a well-indoctrinated loose cannon, an unstoppable, unbribable pit bull. Skinheads fit the bill; Metzger couldn't have ordered a more perfect movement from central casting, and he has their eyes, ears and hearts. Says a prominent skinhead leader, "Tom Metzger is the best leader in the movement. The best skinhead magazine in America is WAR's paper. He's been to my house. We drink beer together. From the bar to the philosopher, he can hang out. He's what a guerrilla is. He's the behind-the-scenes man."

What is a skinhead? From the ground up: steel-toed Doc Marten boots (to engage in the sport of "booting"); Levi's or slacks tucked into or rolled above the boots; suspenders (known as "braces") attached to the pants, but usually worn limp; T-shirt or button-down military shirt worn under a black or green bomber jacket. At the top, a skinhead or just enough hair to work a day job. White power and affiliation tattoos may be found inside the lip, on the back and on both arms.

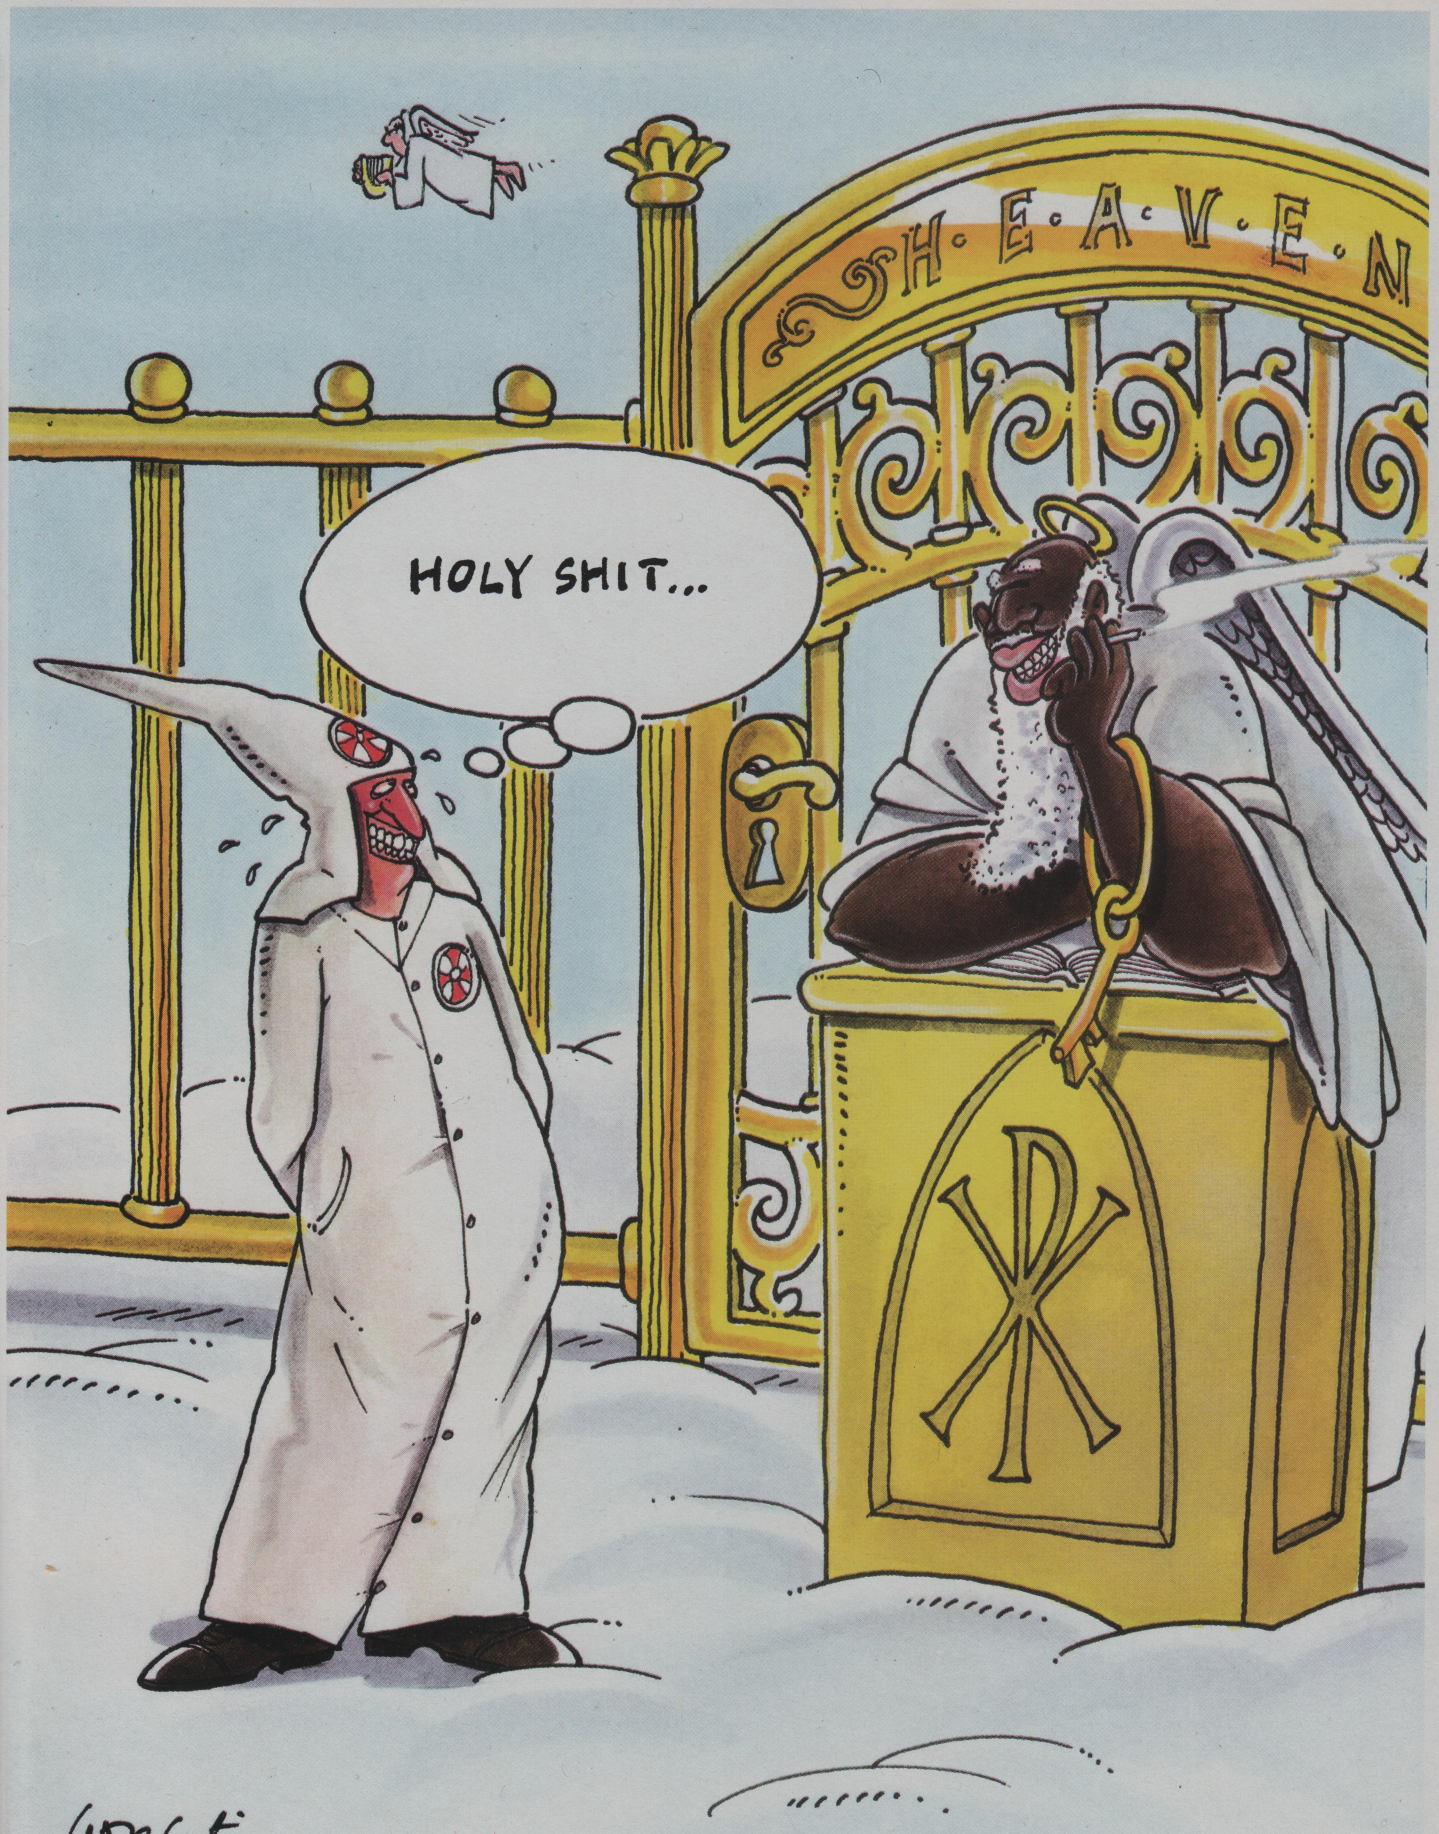

On the inside, a skin is a vessel of wrath, shaved for battle and at all times ready to bust heads. "We have a lot of bashing going on: bum bashing, queer bashing, nigger bashing," spouts Bob Heick (street name: Bob Blitz), a top skinhead leader in the country, along with imprisoned CASH (Chicago Area Skinhead) leader Clark Martell. Heick is the matinee idol of skinheadom. His smirky Nordic mug has been seen on the infamous Geraldo show (making an impassioned defense of Mein Kampf), and blown up to a full-page head shot in Rolling Stone magazine. Sex appeal will help Heick in his scheme to create what he calls his Neulebensborn project, a colony of skinhead chicks, whom he and others will impregnate in order to further the master race.

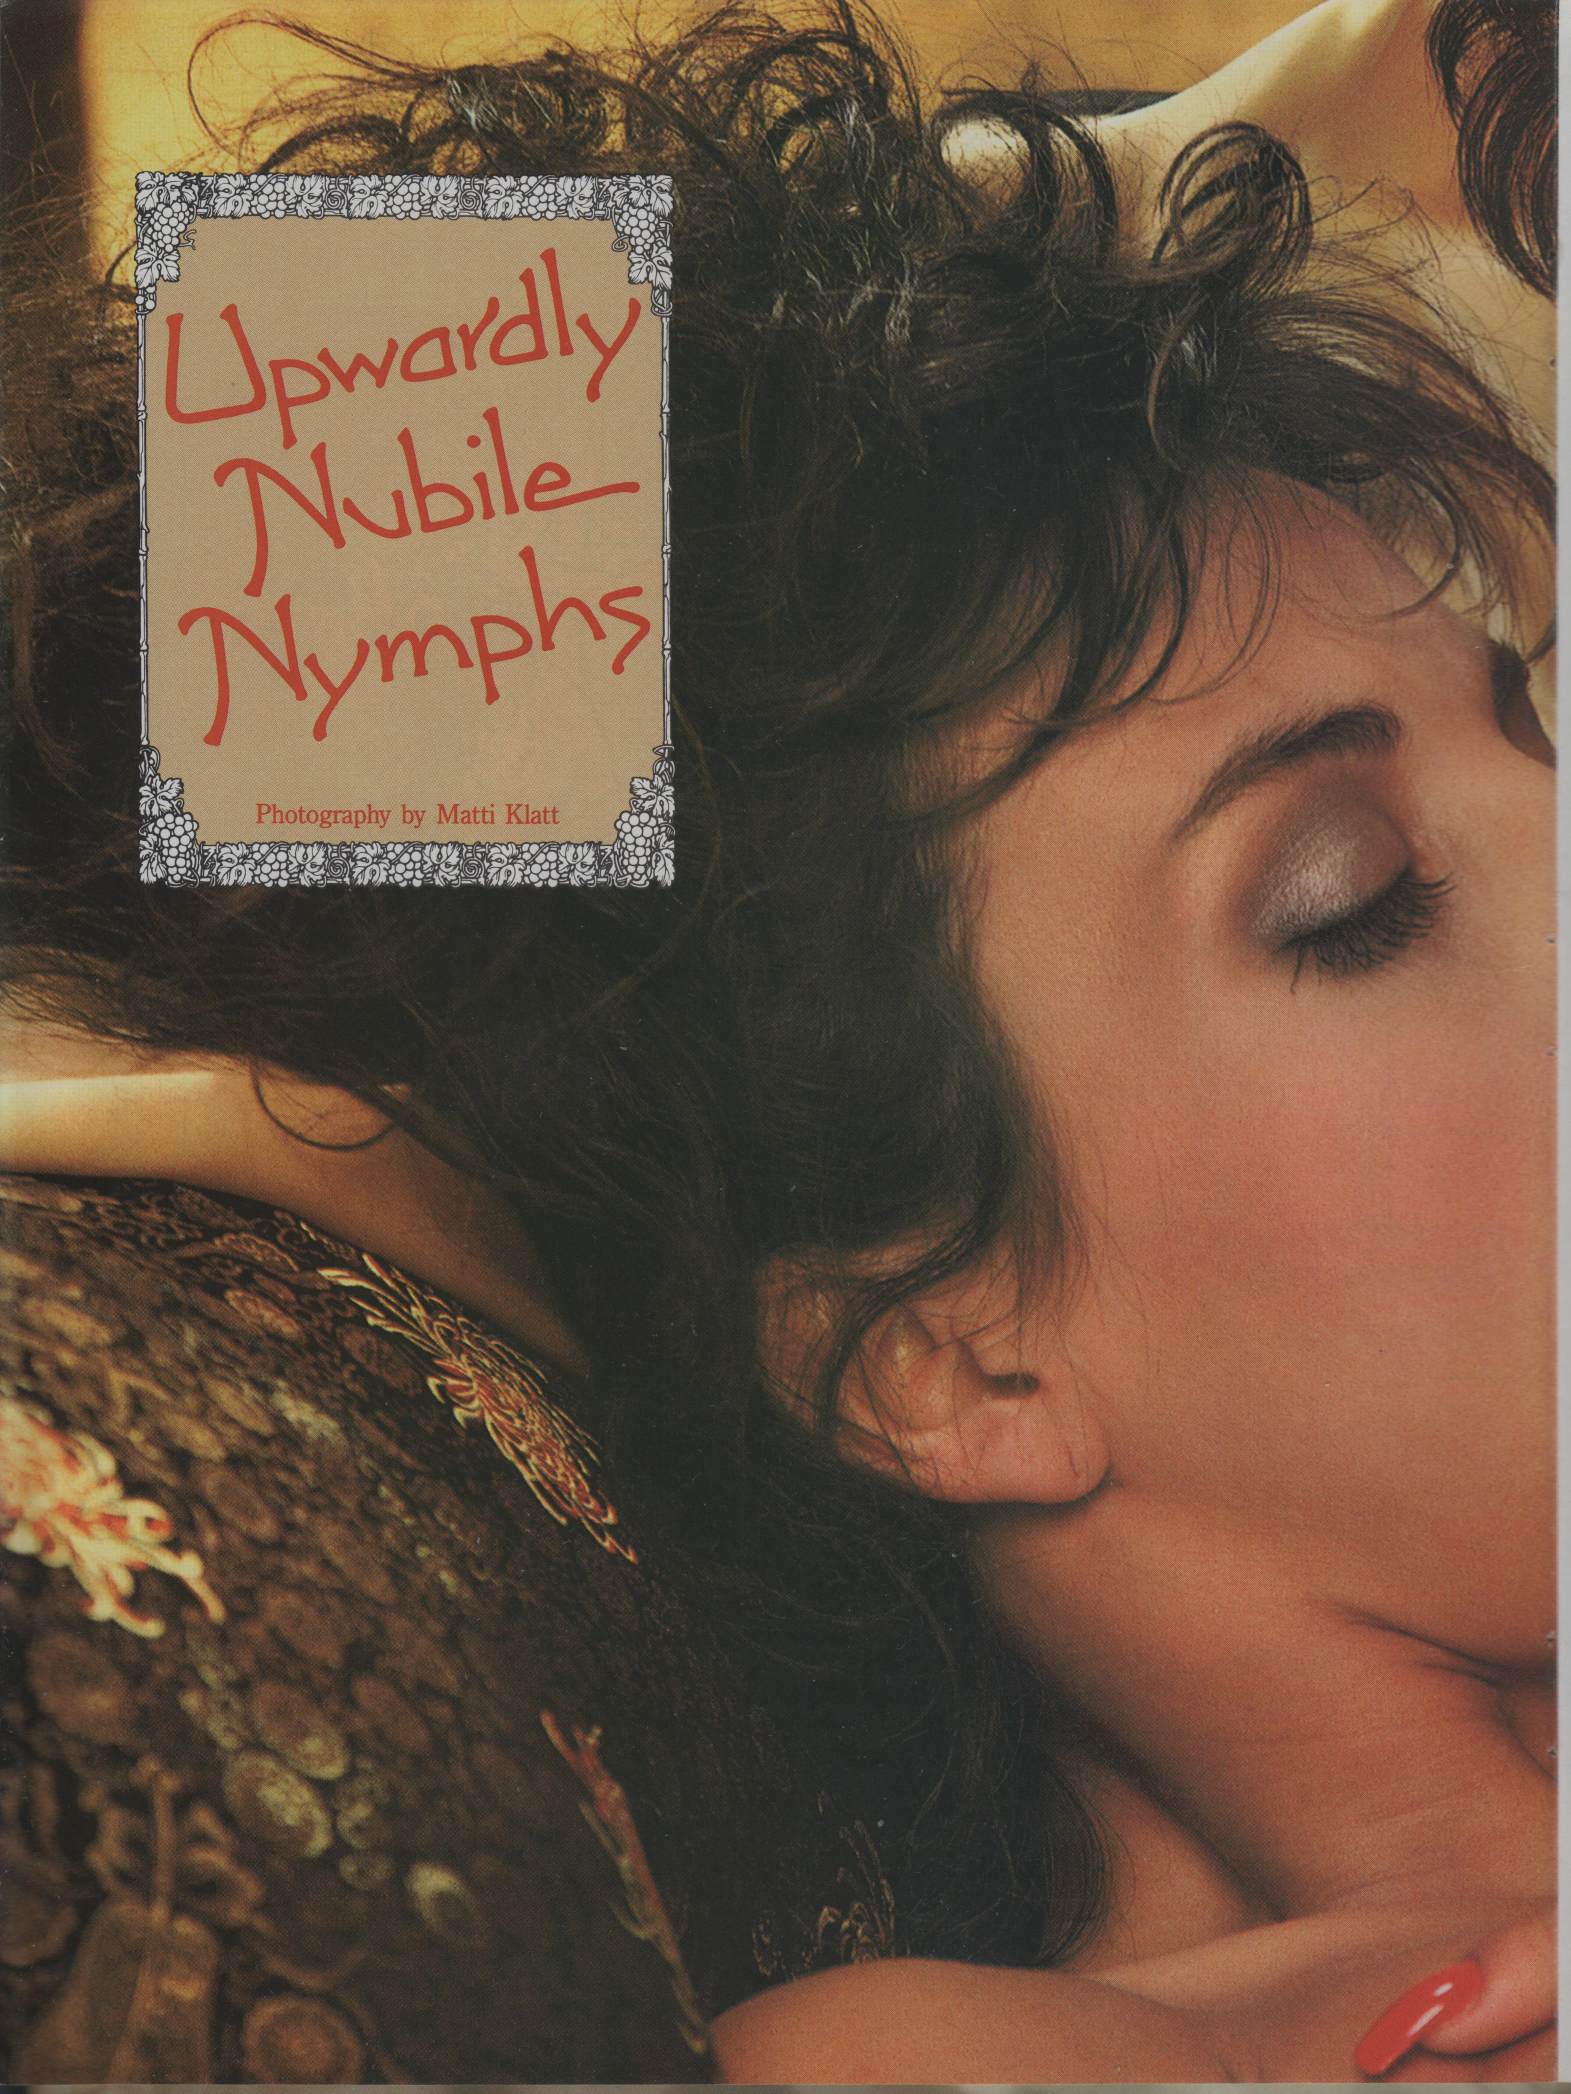

Once a totally male-dominated phenomenon, girls are now committing themselves to the skin movement. Skin girls normally wear tattoos and shave the sides of their heads, leaving the top patch of hair to affect a feminine look. They have more or less accepted the 1950s mainstream American version of womanhood, with one major difference: They are all committed to racist revolution. Provoking a skin's nascent manhood, Metzger's WAR newspaper prints an illustration of a pretty white woman wearing a Viking helmet. A caption rhetorically asks: "Is she worth fighting for?"

Historically, American skins are a breech birth of the punk movement.

Historically, American skins are a breech birth of the punk movement. According to Heick, "We knew that the peace and love stuff was just hippie bullshit. The reason we got into punk was because we hated hippies. The song by the pinko Jello Biafra [of the Dead Kennedys], 'Nazi Punks Fuck Off,' that's what started the backlash here. That's what divided the men from the boys. The first skins to get any notoriety in the [San Francisco] Bay Area was the BASH Boys, or Bay Area Skinheads."

The acronym BASH has the classic skinhead kick-shit ring. The Pitbull Boys of Grand Rapids, Michigan; Romantic Violence of the suburban Chicago area; Reich Skins of the Los Angeles area; Boot Boys of Tulsa; POWAR skins of Portland, Oregon; WAR Skins of San Diego and Northern California; DASH of Detroit; and MASH of Memphis: The names are as hair-trigger and violent as the members themselves. Does the organization's name BASH have anything to do with bashing? "It wasn't really bashing to begin with," elucidates Heick. "It was more like us hanging around at punk shows, seeing groups of Mexicans or niggers start attacking us. But," he continues, "we also hate punks. They're disgusting, weak, mindless; they're sheep. They're . . . hippies! They're drug addicts, they're sexually deviant, they're genetically improper. They are scum. So we bashed them. We went to a show in Los Angeles once. Maybe 300 skins at the whole show. About 100 of them were out really kicking butt. And there were 10,000 people at the whole show. The entire place was destroyed! This is the power of the skins.

"The American Front really got going in 1985, when we got our first credit. For a while there, bums, drug dealers, minorities—you started seeing these guys get out of Haight Street. [The skins hang out in the upper Haight Street area of San Francisco.] When niggers would come up from the Fillmore to sell drugs or rip shit off—the cops loved us for a while because we'd take out these motherfuckers."

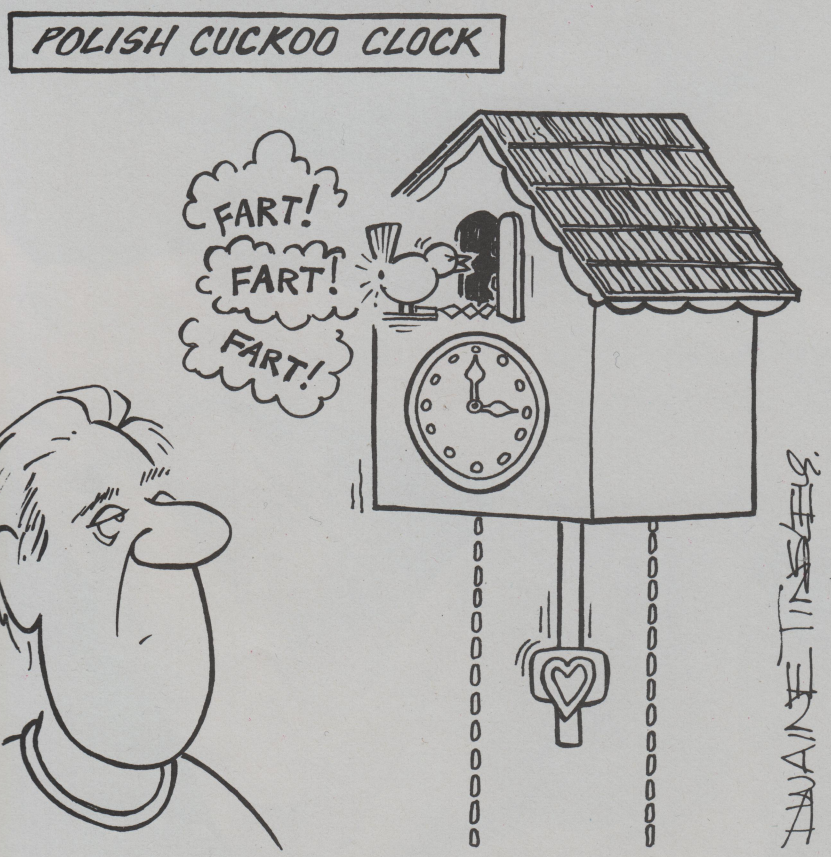

Cops loving skins? What gives? The bristle-haired Heick admits, "The Communists had a good perspective on it at that time. The cops were using us for cannon fodder. But we were enjoying it anyway, and if the cops would give us a bow once in a while, that's fine. They held off on us until that first newspaper article came out." Heick refers to a San Francisco Examiner series of front-page news stories in 1985 documenting skinhead violence and intimidation in the Haight Street area. Merchants demanded protection from the skinheads after Heick and cronies broke a large plate-glass window belonging to a Haight Street anarchist bookstore.

Guzzling a Budweiser tallboy, Heick waxes pensive, a steely, cold, reflective look in his eyes. "I'm 20. That may sound young, but for a skin, man, that's ancient.

"I started the American Front because I didn't want to stand around and do the old shit, get busted and be a fool. The people who I thought were doing something was Screwdriver [Britain's elder statesmen pro-National Front band, headed by Ian Stuart, composer of skin anthems "White Power" and "Nigger, Nigger"]. That's what I wanted to do. A few people and I got together. Some people started flying us in some third-class Nazi literature, and then I started to write my own putting the American Front on it." Heick's tabloid organ is titled Aryan Warrior, with columns such as "Ask the Doc: Your questions answered by Dr. Howard Beach," contributions from a Manson-inspired group called the Abraxas Foundation that preaches a doctrine of evil, and a blue-collar quote by Adolf Hitler that reads, in part, "I want to rear a youth before which the world will shrink back. A violently active, dominating, intrepid, brutal youth."

"I've been writing fliers that have inspired people to bust heads," marvels Heick. "And real fucking movement-of-the-people things!" Throwing his finger forward and raising his voice, the skin leader boasts, "My march, goddamn it! I gave a fucking speech on a hill ["Skinhead Hill," Buena Vista Park], took 65 skinheads, marched down Haight Street with Confederate flags, American flags and signs saying, 'White Revolution is the only solution,' saying, '1-2-3-4, kick the Commies out the door,' and a big banner that said, 'White Workers March Against Marxism.' "

And that's not all. Heick is cagey about owning up to it, but he slyly suggests that he knows who desecrated a holocaust memorial made by artist George Segal at the Palace of Fine Arts in San Francisco.

Mike Gagnon is a "chapter representative" of Heick's American Front grayshirts for a long stretch of largely rural land that runs from Orinda to beyond Sebastopol in Northern California. He also claims to be an Exalted Cyclops of the American Klan Knights. Gagnon tells a familiar story about why he joined the skinhead movement: "I was brought up being told that Adolf Hitler was wrong; that everyone was supposedly equal. I found out the truth on my own. I lived on the streets. I saw the crimes. I lived in an all-black town. I didn't know I was white. I saw all the nonwhite races coming in and bashing us white kids for having long hair, for looking different. We were stoners. We stuck together. We created white unity. If we saw a white going out with a nonwhite, we hated that, that made us burn up. Then I became a skin and stopped doing the drugs."

For Gagnon, "burning up" has meant a riot on the campus of Sonoma State University and violent confrontations everywhere. He brags about one incident that occurred in downtown Napa. "We had a rally against drugs at a dance club called the Casbah. These jocks in front were doing crack and like that, and then they saw 40 bald guys, and they were calling us G.I. Joe. One black guy came up to me and called me a Nazi queer. So I retaliated back and punched him in the face. I broke his nose and three front teeth. A friend of mine hit another with a flagpole and smashed him through a glass window. . . ."

About his favored reading material, Gagnon says, "Well, The Turner Diaries is my favorite book next to Mein Kampf."

Gagnon seems to believe that this incendiary book, which concludes with the white-supremacist nuking of New York City and Tel Aviv, is close to reality. "The Turner Diaries is the truth. When it does happen, it's going to happen like that exactly."

Violent means for a violent end: This is the creed of the skinhead. ADL reports and daily newspapers trumpet the result.

- The savage beating, with baseball bats, of an Ethiopian immigrant, Mulugeta Seraw, in the Portland, Oregon, area in November 1988. Three skinheads were charged with murder in the first degree.
- Gay-bashing in Laguna Beach, California and in the Mission Hills region of San Diego by blue-aluminum baseball bat-wielding skins.
- CASH and Romantic Violence leader Clark Martell is imprisoned for spraying a turncoat female skin with mace and painting a swastika on her wall with her blood. "I am a violent person," Martell is quoted as saying in an ADL report. "I love the white race, and if you love something, you're the most vicious person on earth."
- Former White Student Union organizer Greg Withrow was found crucified to a plank and slashed with a razor after repudiating his role in the Tom Metzger-led group. According to Mike Gagnon, "Withrow deserved what he got. He was a real pathetic parasite. He's lucky that the people that did that to him didn't kill him right off. . . to keep him from talking."

"The skinhead violence is so overrated, it's unbelievable. You'd find a higher percentage of criminal activity among Baptist church members than you would with the skinheads. If the skinheads were pro-Israel, nobody would have said anything," complains Tom Metzger.

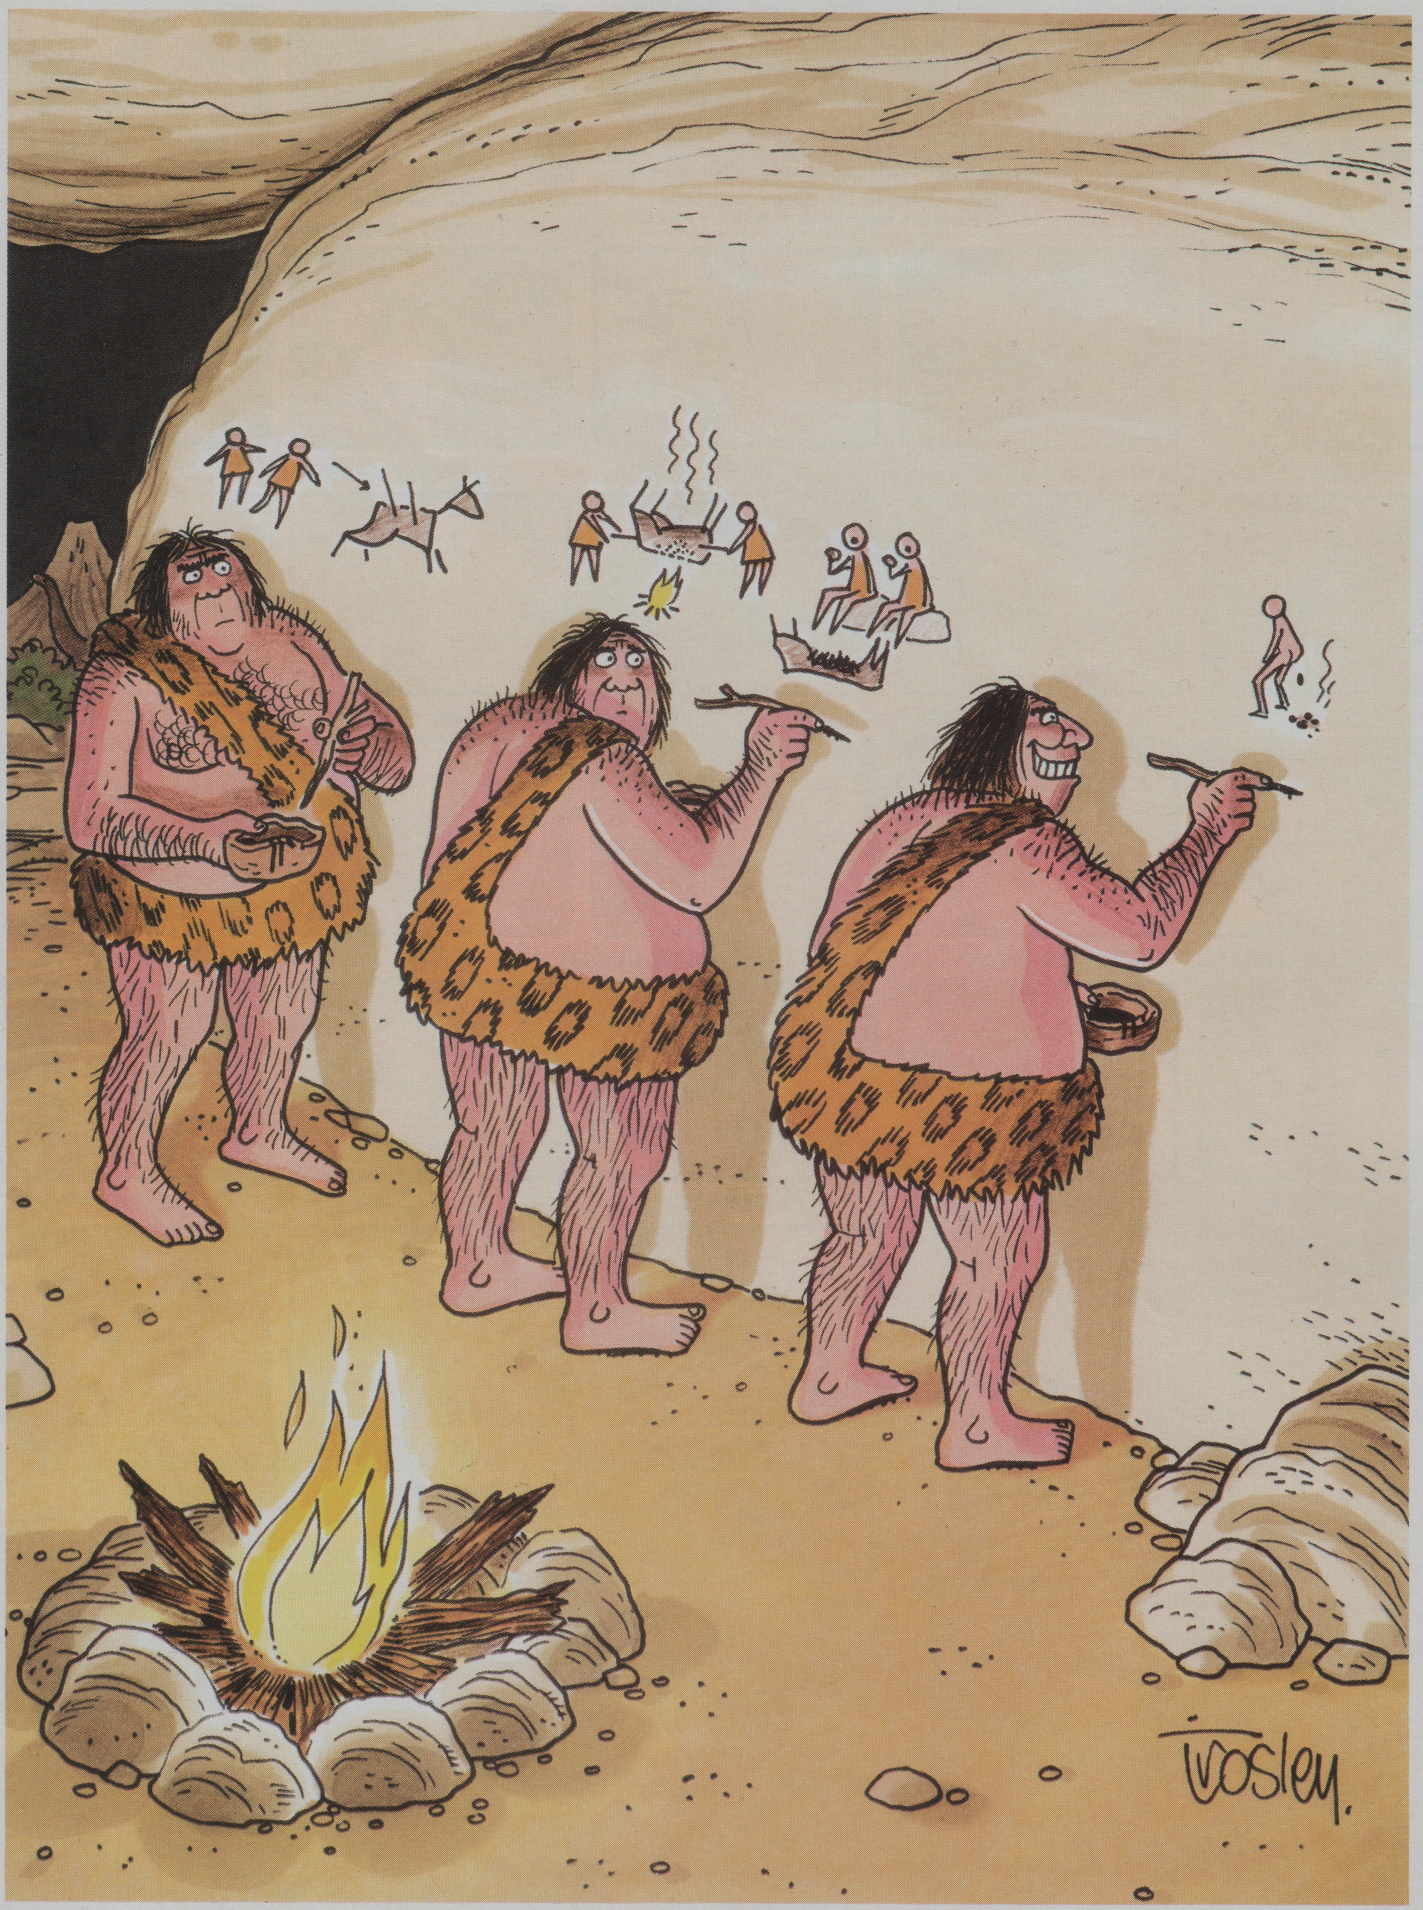

After talking to Heick and Gagnon, it's hard to believe skinheads are pussycats. You can be sure skins are busy polishing their steel-toed shitkickers in preparation for the coming bloody revolution. To counter the perceived threat of skinhead violence, militant Jewish Defense Organization (JDO) leader Mordechai Levy is helping Jewish congregations arm themselves and train in the proper use of an Uzi at camps in California and New York State.

Metzger's organization had a dukes-up brawl with Irv Rubin's group, the Jewish Defense League, at Los Angeles' Union Station two years ago. Since then, Metzger claims, Rubin has continually threatened him over the phone. Then why aren't the JDL down at Metzger's house? "The JDL have sense enough not to attack me. I've told them very clearly what would happen if they did. . . I hate to walk around with guns—they're less personal," says Metzger. "I like to let a person know that if he comes after me, I'm going to carve him up." Relishing the street-level confrontation value of the skins, Metzger warns: "We're coming to a day now where even politicians and the ADL have to walk down the street, and the anger is rising up in this country. If a pencil-neck Jew comes waving a fist, the guys I know will break his neck. There's not going to be

North Lauderdale, Florida's Amber is a dancer and entertainer who's into water sports and swimming naked with her boogie board. This 28-year-old beaver's fantasy is "getting fucked in my pussy

Jackson, Mississippi's Alicia yearns to "have a tongue bath from my toes to my earlobes, outside on a nice, breezy, hot stormy night." This 23-year-old bookkeeper lists her hobbies as dancing, hiking, traveling, sunbathing in the nude and "sex with my husband anytime, anywhere."

BEAVER HUNT

A 39-year-old cashier from Newton Center, Massachusetts, E. S. enjoys reading, bicycling, performing with puppets and cross-country skiing. This active beaver dreams of achieving orgasms with a partner in a bubble bath or jacuzzi.

Fishing, tennis and bike riding are just some of the things Doll, 26, likes to do. A nurse's aide from Thornton, Arkansas, Doll's fantasy is to have sex with her husband and another woman at the same time.

"My fantasy is to lick someone's clit while she gives my boyfriend head, or vice-versa," says Tammy, 23. This waitress from Bettendorf, Iowa, likes exercising, swimming, camping, sunbathing and riding on her lucky boyfriend's Harley, and would also like to do a porn flick with him.

"To make love to another woman with my husband taking videos" is what Cathy, 31, fantasizes about. A housewife from Shreveport, Louisiana, this babe also pursues jogging, camping, arts and crafts, tennis, working out and oral sex.

A waitress from Lovelock, Nevada, Pat, 28, yearns to have someone eat her out all night long. She's also a reading and latch-hooking enthusiast.

Ravishing Rae, 22, is a receptionist who loves dancing, weightlifting, modeling, football, fishing and hunting. Hailing from Luling, Louisiana, Rae says her dream is "to ride bareback on a white horse on the beach at sunset, and then make love in the sand."

BEAVER HUNT WINNER!

Sandy

THE NAKED NOVICE

Although she was understandably nervous about her first big-time modeling adventure as HUSTLER's Beaver Hunt winner, Sandy feels perfectly comfortable in the nude. A Minnesota farmgirl who now lives in the Southern California desert, the strawberry blonde enjoys frolicking naked in the wide open spaces: "It's not just that it's natural, it feels good," she enthused. "Sometimes I can't wait to get to a secluded spot, or a local nudist camp, and just get naked. I'm not ashamed at all—I like being looked at."

Photography by James Baes

Each time a new issue of HUSTLER arrives, Sandy practices our models' poses, so she proved a cooperative, hard-nippled subject for Director of Photography James Baes and staff. Over a special dinner in a restaurant atop a skyscraper, Sandy confessed to being both awed and pampered by the star treatment she received during her two-day stay in Los Angeles. "James was full of compliments. He put me at ease right away."

Besides being a special guest of HUSTLER, Sandy picked up the $1,000 winner's prize and hopes this opportunity grows into regular modeling assignments. We're sure it'll lead to righteously rigid roots among readers, especially when they realize the girl next door could be just like Sandy.

"Then Geraldo jumped on me and was holding me, and I started to beat his fucking ribs."

any philosophical discussion."

The philosophical discussion ended on the highest-rated daytime talk show in history, in which a skinhead sympathizer by the name of Wyatt Kaldenberg took advantage of the free-for-all to inadvertently bust Geraldo Rivera's nose when he threw a chair.

Pasting-up the new issue of the WAR newspaper at Metzger headquarters is the beefy, Pendleton-clad Kaldenberg. A former hireling of the Tom Hayden-Jane Fonda organization, Kaldenberg has taken his leftist chops and mixed them with his abhorrence of nonwhite races. Today he serves as bodyguard, ideologue and man Friday for WAR. He describes the manipulations that escalated into the televised riot. "After we flew into Jew York, we were taken straight to the fucking green room and had to sit there from early morning until about three in the afternoon, with a bunch of cops guarding us. They wouldn't even let us send out for beer. All through the commercial breaks, Geraldo was insulting us, flipping us birds, calling us motherfuckers, scum, cockroaches, assholes, getting all the jerks to yell at us from the audience."

Adds John Metzger, "The whole thing degenerated rather quickly. Geraldo got away with flicking me in the ear. We really got tired of Geraldo's insults, and Roy Innis was calling me a bum, a clown and a self-destructor. The rabbi there referred to some incident in World War II—why, in 1988, bring up something like that? I said to myself, If they want to play this way, fine. I'll laugh them all off. I said I was sick and tired of hearing sob stories from kikes and Uncle Toms."

Kaldenberg interrupts, "He [Innis] voted for Bush and Quayle. Can you imagine a nigger voting for George Bush and Dan Quayle?"

Young Metzger continues, "After I called Innis an Uncle Tom, he sort of stood up and hesitated, but Geraldo egged him on. 'Go on, Roy,' he said. Like a true Uncle Tom, he looked at Geraldo for permission. Then he came over, stood over us. He pushed me down in my chair, and then I stood up, and he started choking me. I kneed him in the groin, and that's what got him off of me."

"Harder, Mildred, harder!"

"The reason we jumped the stage," says Kaldenberg, a paid audience member flown to the show by the Geraldo staff, "was because the undercover cops were behind, holding John's shoulders while Innis was choking him. That's when I picked up the chair and threw it at Innis. It hit John on the shoulder, then hit off Innis's head, and then it may of hit Geraldo, I don't know. I ran over to help John, tripped over a bunch of cords, saw Geraldo coming, took a swing at him and missed. Then Geraldo jumped on me and was holding me, and I started to beat his fucking ribs. He never hit me once, though he tried a few times. He's supposed to be a Golden Gloves, but the guy can't even fucking fight. We go off camera to the side where all the niggers are, and all these guys are grabbing me, and all Geraldo can do is scratch me like a horny bitch. I punched the fuck out of him there. I broke his nose by hitting him. I felt it go crunch! Got blood all over my knuckles. All his security guards were on me, then he got up and fucking ran, and I chased him into the audience area. Then the guy who was holding John down said he was going to fucking shoot me.

"The cops asked Innis and Geraldo if they wanted to press charges," rants the emphatic Kaldenberg. "And what they ask us for is our IDs. They were going to throw John in jail for getting choked. Getting neck prints on Innis's hand or something. They say they want to expose us, but the largest single contribution White Aryan Resistance ever got was from the Geraldo show. They dropped a hunk of money to get us on in the first place. They advanced our movement, and we got $50 million of free publicity off that show."

"When we do these kinds of shows," adds Tom Metzger, "we get hundreds, if not thousands, of letters over a period of a few weeks. Ninety-nine percent of those letters are positive or agree to a large share of what we're saying."

Network television aside, the elder Metzger operates a public-access cable-television program titled Race and Reason. The Metzger-hosted panel show features former Nazis, historical revisionists, avant-garde racists and, predictably, skinheads. The show is broadcast in many metropolitan markets throughout America and was the reason the city of St. Louis dropped its public-access scheduling entirely. Metzger's WAR newspaper also sells videotapes, stickers, audio tapes and "Aryan jewelry" and provides numbers for 24-hour message lines. The newspaper is a haphazard, breezy and brutal read, replete with history lessons ("Half-Jew Hamilton Used Red Savages to Massacre White Separatists"), racist cartoons,

"This cunt is all yours tonight," she sighed. "I want you to fuck it as much as you like."

shaft. Kevin, who had been sitting with his mouth open, now beat his rigid crank, furiously matching the increasing tempo the four of us maintained. Rick's breath was coming in gasps, and Dave kept moaning, "Fuckin' A, baby."

Then, without warning, Rick's cream exploded in my mouth. Flames raced through my pussy. I was so caught up, I couldn't swallow all of Rick's load. Jism ran in rivulets out the corners of my mouth. My cunt went into spasms, gripping Dave like closed fists. They could no longer hold out and they spewed their loads I collapsed on top of Studly, cum oozing when I felt Kevin shoot his wad on my back.

Later that night I gingerly made my way back to my car, somewhat sore, but quite content. I was happy to hear that the guys had not had any alarms to respond to during the rest of the night. It's a good thing because they were pretty worn out from extinguishing my fire.

ALL DRESSED UP...

Not long ago my wife decided to surprise me by dressing up and acting like a whore. She must have had the whole thing planned out because she sent me to the store for a bottle of wine. My wife doesn't drink wine that often so it made me just a bit suspicious when she insisted that I buy some, but I had no idea what she had in mind. The trip to the store and back took about a half hour. When I returned she greeted me looking like some hooker you'd find in an alley somewhere.

She'd made her face up applying a very heavy base. Wearing long false eyelashes, very bright eye shadow, ruby red lipstick and a blond wig that I had never seen before, my wife stood before me in only a see-through black-and-red bra with holes that her nipples stuck through, and a matching pair of crotchless panties that revealed her bush and meaty crack. She also wore a garter belt, black-net stockings and, to finish off her appearance, a pair of pink high heels. She looked like something out of a sailor's dream.

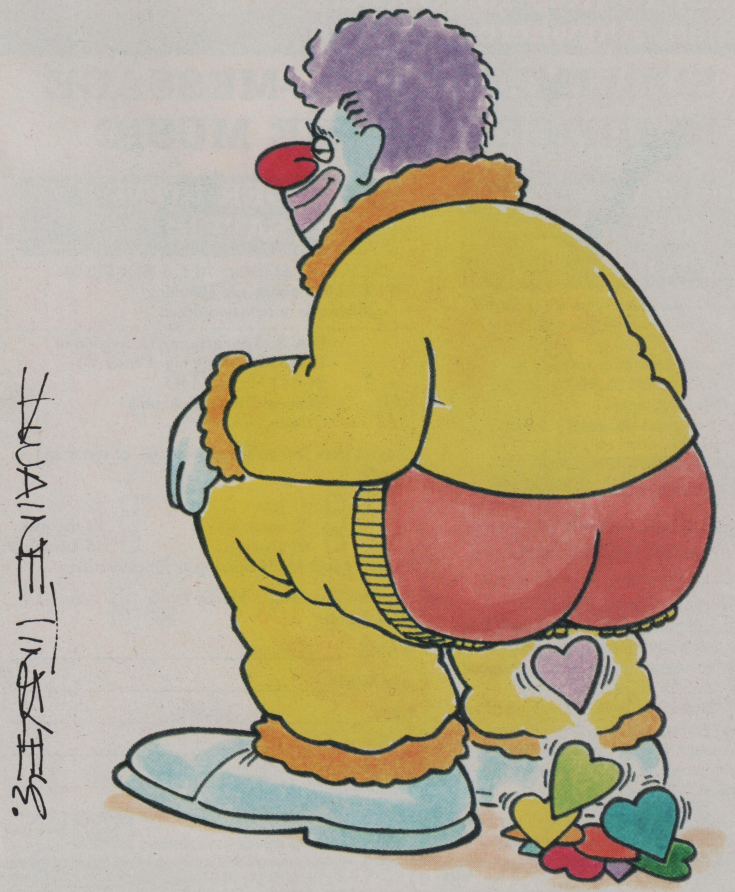

I was speechless when I first saw her. I was dumbfounded when she fell to her knees in front of me and unzipped my pants, taking my cock out and slowly licking the head until it started to stiffen. She then sucked it into her mouth like a vacuum and made loud slurping noises while coating it with her hot saliva. While she was sucking my cock I took the bottle of wine out of the bag and unscrewed the cap. By this time she had pulled my pants down to my ankles, and after removing my shoes she took them completely off me. As I filled up two wine glasses she remained kneeling between my legs, cupping my balls and licking them until they were soaking wet. I wasn't quite sure what else she had in mind, but I sure as hell loved what she'd done so far.

After standing up and accepting the wine I offered, we clinked our glasses together in a toast. She said, "Here's to being your whore." That was easy to drink to. Then she grabbed me by my still-hard cock and led me into the bedroom where the lights had been dimmed to a romantic glow. After a long, wet kiss while jerking me off to keep me hard, she sat me on the edge of the bed, went to the stereo, put on an album and began to dance lewdly. She was putting on a show for me, and as I sat there watching her move sensually to the music, cupping her tits and squeezing them, thrusting her pussy out at me and grinding her hips, I could hardly believe that this was my wife. The image that she was creating was driving me crazy and hot with lust.

Every few minutes, she would bend over and kiss me, stroking my cock again and again as a tease. I felt as though my dick was going to explode, and I knew that was just what she wanted. Moving away from me while continuing to dance, she reached behind her to unsnap the peek-a-boo bra that had barely covered her tits. They bounced into sight and she shook her shoulders from side to side to make them wiggle. Then, while sticking her tongue out and running it tantalizingly across her lips, she held her tits and pinched her nipples until they were red and swollen—like my cock.

I wanted to grab her and fuck that hairy cunt in the worst way, but she wasn't done with her show yet. Turning around so that her ass was to me, she bent over at the waist and spread her legs wide so that her whole crack and asshole were plainly visible. To the beat of the music she pumped her ass up and down, clenching and unclenching her brown-eye, and then slid her hand down benostalgia for Odinist warriors and half-humorous depictions of Neanderthal, cross-eyed skins wielding straight razors and baseball bats.

"We're tired of having to educate right wingers. You don't have to be Christian and white."

Surprisingly, the WAR paper also features a quote by Jewish Communist Rosa Luxemburg and fosters sympathy for former right-wing bugaboos such as the Industrial Workers of the World. In many places, the paper comments on the mainstay of the racist right, Christianity. "To the Left, I'm the Nazi. To the Right, I'm the Bolshevik. Actually, we're glad to see this rift in the movement because it speeds things up," says Tom Metzger. "We're tired of having to educate right-wingers. You don't have to be Christian and white. We say white, period."

The anti-Christian stance may be the most characteristic feature of WAR skins. "Jesus is just a fucking, stinking kike," opines Kaldenberg. "Christianity was invented by the Jews to destroy the Roman Empire."

King skin, Bob Heick, agrees, "Organized churches are our enemy. The Pope wears a fucking yarmulke. What do we have to say here? You'd have to be fucking insane to have a Jew tell you to turn the other cheek, but that's what we've been doing for 2,000 years now, and look where it's gotten us. Not one place in the world outside of Iceland that's totally white."

Pointing to the Thor comic-style graphics in the WAR paper, Kaldenberg exults, "We're returning to the old Aryan gods: Odin, Thor . . . we're thinking of having a Wotan society to combat Christianity."

Some might agree that the skinhead movement is growing. But what is the ultimate aim of this terroristic street theater? Five parchment-white Northwest states, as is the goal of the Christian Identity Aryan Nations clan? Or is it the post-nuclear winner-take-all scenario put forward by The Turner Diaries? "Right now, we're just in the propaganda stage," observes Kaldenberg. "The revolution probably won't happen in my lifetime."

"There's going to be tribes, barbarism," counters Bob Heick. "We've got to take this land back, from Canada to the Rio Grande. All of it. You don't need the other races. Nietzsche didn't sit around and listen to saxophone music."

On this question of his future, even Tom Metzger seems a little unclear. "The system itself defines what goes on," says Metzger. "We depend on our enemies to open up new doors for us. And then it's up to us to make the run. It's like playing a piano and plinking and plinking and suddenly you hit a note and hear someone go, 'Aaaaaaaaaahhhh!' And you hit it; and you hit it; and you keep hitting that damn key as long as they're screaming."

tween her legs to rub her pussy lips so that I could see the juices gleaming on her fingers. While continuing to stroke her crack she turned her head toward me while still licking her lips. "This cunt is all yours tonight," she said. "I want you to fuck it as much as you like."

That was all I could take. I leapt up, grabbed her ass-cheeks and rammed my throbbing cock into her, slamming it in and out until she was moaning at the top of her lungs. The louder she moaned, the harder I fucked her. I wasn't fucking my wife, but some horny slut who couldn't get enough cock. I didn't want to come yet so I pulled out my cock and with one quick loud slap on her ass I told her to get on the bed, which she did.

On all fours I knelt over her face and inserted my slippery cock into her mouth and began to fuck her face, just as I had done to her cunt. With my balls slapping against her chin I continued to fill her mouth with my pumping cock, telling her at the same time to play with her slit and keep it wet. With muffled, gurgling noises emanating from her cock-filled mouth, she lifted both her long, sexy legs in the air and began to rub her cunt and clit until she made herself come.

I withdrew from her mouth and positioned myself between her legs. Guiding my cock into her hole, I sunk it in as far as it would go. While she begged, "Fuck me, fuck me." I did exactly that until my balls exploded and fired a stream of semen into her throbbing cunt. She came again. At that moment we both cried out from the intense pleasure of our orgasms, and then lay still as our perspiration dripped onto the sheets.

We fucked two more times that night. It was a great night of whoring and I'm waiting for the next time she gets the urge to look and act like a slut. —C. J.

Why buy generic video's with outdated stars, grainy pictures and dubbed sound from some of those California scam outfits. Our vidoes are brand new with todays hottest stars and all filmed in high resolution color for those super detailed close-ups! Also, each and every video is approximately 30 minutes in length-not those cut up preview tapes sold by other companies so you order with confidence! Every video has the EXACT STARS and action that you choose in explicit hardcore. You must also be completely satisfied with your order OR send it back for a prompt and courteous credit toward future purchases. And, with due respect to your privacy, everything we ship to you will be plainly packaged and securely wrapped, without the slightest indication of its contents

Some mail order companies are offering "Free" videotapes. Yet, in order for you to receive the "Free" video, you must send in $5.00 to cover shipping and handling. So, the tape isn't really free, it's $5.00! We here at VMC believe in integrity in advertising and we're tired of seeing companies trying to fool the public into believing they're getting something for nothing! This is why we've formulated the following offer: $4.50 will buy you ANY tape on this page! No shipping and handling charges, no false claims. Any tape on this page for $4.50, period. All tapes are 60 minutes of non-stop action featuring erotica's brightest stars! All tapes carry a 100% guarantee. If you are not totally convinced that this tape is worth 4 times as much, we'll give you a 100% refund! So, don't delay, place your order today!

ADD 3 to 4 INCHES to Any Size Penis And We Guarantee It!

BATTERY ENERGIZED! DOES THE JOB FOR YOU AND FEELS GOOD TOO!

Our competition offers regular models (not powered) or electric models (uses electricity and may be dangerous) for up to $40. Now with the original battery-powered Komet sex aid you can prosthetically add 3 to 4 inches to any size penis. All this without strenuous exercise or electricity. The Komet's state-of-the-art engineering produces a steady flow of energy to produce the desired results and pleasurable sensations.

IF THE SIZE OF YOUR PENIS IS IMPORTANT TO YOU, THEN YOU OWE IT TO YOURSELF AND YOUR PARTNER TO ADD 3 OR 4 EXTRA INCHES!

You have everything to gain and nothing to lose. Why use a non-powered unit or risk inserting your penis into an electric unit. (You know liquids, cremes and jells and electricity don't mix and can be dangerous.) Why take chances. We will replace any defective model for 1 year plus shipping and handling charges.

CAUTION: Komet is the original, highest quality battery powered aid. Do not accept any cheaper model at any price.

AMAZING TAPE SEDUCES WOMEN!

SHE THINKS IT'S ONLY MUSIC, BUT SHE'S BEING EROTICALLY PROGRAMMED TO LOVE YOU!

CAN WORDS HIDDEN UNDER MUSIC SEXUALLY AROUSE A WOMAN AND FOCUS HER PASSION ON ONLY ONE MAN?

YES!! SIMPLY insert the MEPHISTO SUBLIMINAL CASSETTE (car-home-portable), She will only notice music, BUT inaudible, hidden commands penetrate her subconscious mind. Soon, she wants you with an overpowering passion.

Become her Obsession!

Scientific Demonstrations prove: Subliminal stimuli activate involuntary bodily responses such as: SEXUAL AROUSAL! That means Mephisto's "hidden" orgasmic subliminal commands will secretly focus her erotic urges on you and plant your image (like a seed) deep into her subconscious swelling her sexual excitement to the edge of orgasm!

Sexologist agree: The process of bonding (the choice of "only" one man) occurs in her subconscious and is the trigger to a women's SEXUAL DESIRE!! Mephisto's Subliminal technology converts Seduction from an Art to a Science.

ACCLAIMED WORLDWIDE

"Finally getting my share!! Thanks." BE MA.
"I know for a fact it works!" C TEX

3) She is deeply in love with you.
4) Sex with you is "necessary and right"!

SHE WILL:
5) Have sexual dreams of you.
6) Have visions of your hands in foreplay.
7) Lose her modesty and inhibitions!
8) Urgently need you to give her a climax!

Works whether you know her 10 minutes or 10 years! MEPHISTO'S REVOLUTIONARY METHOD uses the astonishing psychological discovery (subliminal motivation) to TRIGGER A WOMAN'S BASIC URGE FOR SEX.

NEXT MONTH IN HUSTLER

YOU'LL SWOON OVER OUR POON

It's a guaranteed boner bonanza next month when HUSTLER presents a cooze contest your cock will never forget. We take you to a club in Canada that features a couple of coquettes known as the Duo Champs—the best striptease team in Hoserland. After we show you how hot these two bouncy, blond bun-wigglers are on stage, we take them to a deserted beach where the action gets even hotter as they apply their expert teamwork to each other. Also, look in on a muscle-bound furniture mover who slips his salami to a new dolly; get big and throbbing over a curvy brunette with tasty tits and huge areolas; and spurt your approval of our flaxen-haired centerfold as, once again, HUSTLER proves it's the quim-de-la-quim of men's magazines.

REAM THERAPY

More and more psychiatrists these days are skipping the mind fuck and going right for the crotch, taking advantage of their vulnerable patients. Larry Wichman's eye-opening report, "Sex-Sick Shrinks," reveals the sleazy details behind therapist/patient affairs and explains how these liaisons can be dangerous.

ARRESTING MANNERS

Whether or not you've ever received an attitude adjustment from a nightstick, you'll want to read Chuck Milland's "Cop Etiquette: How to Handle Yourself With Police." Milland gives you some simple, yet crucial guidelines on dealing with the boys in blue, and tells how to avoid turning police futility into police brutality.

WHAT GOES AROUND COMES AROUND

Because of the media's sharp focus on AIDS in America, it's easy for us to forget that this is a worldwide problem. In next month's AIDS-Watch, Jeff Jackson examines what other countries are doing to combat AIDS, and why the United States may not be ahead in the tragic virus sweepstakes after all.

POKIN' AND JOKIN', HUSTLER STYLE

Next month's Sex Play, "Sex Goes Ethnic," shows that you don't have to be a frequent flyer to be a frequent fucker of foreign babes as R.M. Baker explains the ins and outs of screwing exotic nymphs you can find in your own backyard. You'll also enjoy the usual suspects you've come to love in HUSTLER such as Erotic Entertainment, where XXX sexperts separate the limp from the hard; Beaver Hunt, pages of pussy with that personal touch; Hot Letters, with reader-written raunch that'll raise your rod; and Bits & Pieces, a land of lunacy even the Supreme Court chuckles at. Get HUSTLER and make this your hottest summer yet!
